The Plea From Russia

Battle 50 Miles From Stalingrad

Germans Half-way In Caucasus Drive

By Associated Press
Russia's armies, conceding the fall of Rostov and Novocherkassk, fought desperately today to stem a huge-scale German drive against Stalingrad, while the Soviet press hinted anew at the need for opening an Allied second front in Europe.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters declared German troops "reached or crossed the lower Don at all points" south of Kalach.
This would mean the Nazis have advanced within 50 miles of Stalingrad at its nearest point. London military quarters said the Germans, throwing probably 625,000 troops into the assault, had been slowed somewhat after suffering heavy losses. These quarters said Russian armies are mostly intact, but German reserves are considerable.

On the north flank, in the Voronezh sector, the Germans are described as "definitely on the defensive."

Russian newspapers stress the gravity of the loss of Rostov. They acknowledged the invaders are now half way toward their goal of isolating the trans-Caucasus with its riches in oil, wheat, metals and timber.

Long Way Yet From Baku

However, it is some 700 miles from Rostov to Baku, the Caspian oil port in the south Caucasus.

While the fighting was going on the Berlin radio reflected German fears of an Allied invasion, with the announcement that Field Marshal Gerd von Rundstedt had spent the last few days inspecting "the extensive and deeply echeloned fortification works on the north French Channel coast."

Into their bid for conquest of the Caucasus the Germans hurled forces which Red Star, organ of the Russian army, said were "many times superior" to the number of the defenders.

Hammering toward the last railway line linking Stalingrad to the Caucasus, the Germans were said in Moscow to have made a new crossing of the Don in the Tsimlyansk sector, where the Don flows within 50 miles of the railway.

The pressure of the invaders is becoming "more and more difficult" to meet, said Red Star. The heavy onslaught admittedly is forcing the Red army to fall back to the south.

Red Star, however, reported Russian fliers had destroyed one whole German column as it attempted to cross the Don. At another point a Russian surprise attack caught German troops crossing the river and took a heavy toll.

It said hills of German dead and remnants of tanks and cannon littered whole sections of the Don banks.

"The Soviet air force incessantly bombed the German battle formation, destroyed or damaged 27 tanks, 68 motor vehicles with troops and supplies and a number of field and anti-aircraft guns," the Soviet information in Moscow said. "Two companies of infantry and not less than a squadron of cavalry were destroyed."

Russian fliers were credited also with demolishing or damaging 37 German planes on the ground and shooting down three Messerschmidt 109 fighters.

War's 2nd Battle For Transport Centre

The outcome of the second battle for Rostov, industrial and transport centre of 500,000 population from which the Germans were driven last Nov. 29 after a brief occupation, was reported simply in the midnight communique.

"Our troops have evacuated Novocherkassk and Rostov," it said.

(Both Rostov and Novocherkassk, 20 miles to the northeast, were claimed by the Germans last week. The German high command Monday asserted the invaders also had taken Bataisk, 20 miles south of Rostov on the main trans-Caucasian railway and trunk oil pipeline.)

The information bureau stressed fresh Soviet gains in the battle of Voronezh, midway between Rostov and Moscow; a successful Red navy action, and a feat of Polish guerrillas.

"In the Barents Sea," the communique reported, "our warships sank an enemy submarine and one transport of 10,000 tons."

Red army men captured a forest northwest of Voronezh and prisoners were quoted as saying there were more bodies than trees in the woods. Soviet artillery batteries were declared to have destroyed three new German crossings on the Don.

A train loaded with German troops en route to the Russian front from France was said to have been blown up with hundreds of casualties by the explosion of mines planted near the Bokhnyia station in Poland.

Ralston Explains Hongkong Action

Schmidlin Removed Before Inquiry Held

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said in the Commons today that Maj. Gen. E. J. C. Schmidlin, quartermaster-general, was relieved of his post before the Royal Commission hearing on the Hongkong expedition was held.

He was replying to a suggestion from G. R. Boucher, Con., Carleton, Ont., that Gen. Schmidlin was "condemned without a hearing," because he did not appear before the commission to give evidence.

"Surely that was his right," said Mr. Boucher.

"Certainly it was his right," the minister replied. "An invitation was issued to everybody who had anything to contribute to the commission to give it."

"Was he called?" Mr. Boucher asked.

"I have no idea whether he was called or not," Col. Ralston replied. "The action taken with regard to Gen. Schmidlin was taken before the hearing was held."

Ralston Investigated As Minister

"I am saying that I, as head of the department, investigated this matter that concerned Gen. Schmidlin and I took the action which I described last night before the hearing was held. (See Col. Ralston's Monday night speech, page 2.)

"He was relieved of his post before there was any hearing, before there was any opportunity for him to give evidence."

Mr. Boucher, speaking in the resumed debate on the report of Sir Lyman Duff on the Hongkong expedition, had declared there was no direct evidence against Gen. Schmidlin and no record in the report of his having been called to give evidence.

The report criticized the quartermaster-general's branch for failure to get mechanical transport to Vancouver in time to accompany the expedition to Hongkong last Oct. 27.

Mr. Boucher said he questioned if full justice had been done to Lt. Col. E. H. Spearing of the movement control section of the quartermaster-general's branch. Col. Spearing was retired following issuance of the report of the Hongkong inquiry.

Mr. Boucher said the public was suspicious over the Hongkong expedition and the full evidence given at the inquiry should be tabled.

Hope for Vote At Night Sitting

The House took up the Hongkong debate as the first item of business today, ahead of the normal routine proceedings at the opening of each day's sittings, so that nothing might be permitted to intervene and delay conclusion of that discussion.

A vote was hoped for late this afternoon but a half dozen members had signified their intention of speaking and it was thought the vote might not come till late tonight.

This morning's debate brought a charge from Ross Macdonald, Liberal, Brantford, Ont., that Lieut. Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader and one of the counsel before the Duff Commission, had retarded production of Bren guns.

Mr. Macdonald, who finished a speech he had begun Monday evening, devoted much of it to discussion of Col. Drew and his attitude toward the commission.

He recalled the criticism of the Bren gun contract negotiated before the war, resulting in a Royal Commission hearing and a Parliamentary inquiry.

"The investigation before the committee of this House lasted almost one year and I charge Mr. George A. Drew, K.C., with holding up the production of Bren guns in Canada for at least one year," Mr. Macdonald said.

Mr. Macdonald said he did not consider Col. Drew would be fitted to hold certain high offices in the National Defence Department.

Suggests Need Of Military Knowledge

Lieut. Col. J. A. Ross, Conservative, Souris, Man., said the Hongkong expedition inquiry should have been conducted by someone with military knowledge.

The report, he said, emphasized the need of an Empire war council, formation of which had been consistently opposed by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Col. Ross asked if there would have to be a repetition of Hongkong before compulsory overseas military service was instituted to provide a supply of fully-trained men for such service.

It was "just propaganda" for Defence Minister Ralston to claim that firing practice in new weapons was not required by the men who had been sent to Hongkong. It would be more beneficial if troops were able to practice with live hand grenades rather than the dummies which had been available to men who comprised the expedition.

No More Reference To 'Mob' Remark

When Col. Ross spoke of an incident in the House Monday, when Mr. King referred to opposition members as a "mob," the Prime Minister rose and said the reference had been withdrawn and expunged from the record. Col. Ross should not repeat the word, and his statement should also be expunged.

T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto Broadview, said the Hongkong incident was only one part of a greater fault which had existed for years, and which he called "the sin of unpreparedness."

The government should table all the information of the Hongkong expedition, since the people were entitled to know the truth, he said.

Mr. Church said he was attacking the Defence Minister or Sir Lyman Duff, the royal commissioner.

J. S. Roy, Ind., Gaspe, Que., spoke briefly.

J. Francois Poirer, Lib., Temiscouata, Que., said he had been complaining about the Hongkong report. He referred to Chief Justice Sir Lyman Duff, the commissioner, as "a kindly old gentleman."

Germans Kill 28 at Lille

VICHY (AP)—The Germans announced today the execution of 28 persons at Lille on conviction of a series of offences, including sabotage, possession of weapons and communistic activity.

Most of those condemned were mine workers in the Lille region. At the same time French courts at Douai, a suburb of Lille, sentenced two persons to life in prison for stealing ration cards, and 28 others to a total of 40 years in prison. Most of them also were miners.

Delayed advices from Courtrai, also in the Lille region, said an unspecified but considerable number of persons had been arrested as hostages after five fires were started in one night.

The German announcement declared that a number of persons were arrested "for sympathy" and that radios and bicycles were being confiscated.

5 Thunderbirds Killed or Missing

Squadron Leader John William Kerwin, who July 20 was listed as missing with the R.C.A.F. in Alaska, is now announced, as killed on active service, according to the 328th R.C.A.F. casualty list issued in Ottawa this afternoon.

Four other members of the Thunderbird Fighter Squadron, which previously was stationed at Patricia Bay, are also listed as killed or missing.

They are: P.O. Dean Edward Whiteside of Waterville, Kas., who was killed on an operational flight out of Patricia Bay.

Ft. Sgt. Frank Robert Lennon of Clifton, N.J.

Sgt. Stanley Ray Maxmen of Moose Jaw, Sask.

Ft. Sgt. Gordon Douglas Russell Baird of Winnipeg, who is listed as "missing after flying operations."

Enemy On Defensive

British Harass Rommel's Men As They Dig In

By EDWARD KENNEDY

CAIRO (AP)—Harassed by new British land and aerial counter-thrusts, Field Marshal Rommel's African army appeared today, after the latest flare-up of fighting, to be digging in for an attempt to hold its forward positions 75 or 80 miles from Alexandria rather than try to drive on toward the Nile delta and Suez.

Fighting went on through Monday night in the newest British blow at the northern flank of the front where the battle has been sawed for four weeks since Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's troops brought Rommel's long push to a standstill.

Some prisoners were taken in the fight, and losses were inflicted on the Axis forces, but there was no indication that any large, permanent wedge had been driven in the Axis line. In some places imperial troops drove them back to their original positions.

The Axis forces met the foray definitely on the defensive and made no immediate move to hit back.

SUPPLIES RUSHED

Both sides are racing to get more men and material. Rommel is handicapped in this by the difficulties in drawing strength from the continent and by British and United States aerial blows at his lines of reinforcement. Auchinleck is handicapped by the enormous distance of the battlefield from his sources of supply.

British headquarters described the flare-up of fighting on the north flank as severe. The British attack was launched Sunday night and the fighting which followed was accompanied by heavy artillery duels, the communique said. Light British bombers and fighter-bombers roared out over the battlefield to attack enemy positions.

Axis aircraft joined the battle and British fighters engaged a formation of German dive bombers escorted by fighter aircraft. Three of the German planes were shot down, the communique said.

Australian and South African forces have been holding the British northern positions on the 40-mile front and presumably led the British attack.

48-Hour Week For War Workers Proposed in U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A ceiling of 48 hours weekly—in six eight-hour days—on the working time for millions of men and women employed in war industries was proposed today by eight government agencies.

The Office of War Information announced that such hours had been recommended to war contractors and other war producing agencies.

"The major effect of the new policy statement on hours," the announcement said, "should be to reduce excessive working hours per week per person, which cannot be sustained without impairing the health and efficiency of workers and reducing the flow of production."

4 STANDARDS

The statement of policy, signed by representatives of the War and Navy Departments, Maritime Commission, Public Health Service, War Manpower Commission, War Production Board, Commerce Department and Labor Department, set forth four major standards, as follows:

1. For wartime production the eight-hour day and 48-hour week approximate the best working schedule for sustained efficiency in most industrial operations.

2. One scheduled day of rest for the individual, out of approximately every seven, should be a universal and invariable rule.

3. A 30-minute meal period is desirable.

4. Vacations are conducive to sustained production, and should be spread over the longest possible period.

Asks All to Fight

MOSCOW (AP)—In an article entitled, "The Fate of Russia," the army paper Red Star today called on every woman and child to take up axes and stones to attack the German invaders.

"The fate of Russia depends on our generation," it said.

German Documents, Words From Tojo

New Light on Slave Ideas Of Jap, Nazi Warlords

By DE WITT MACKENZIE, Associated Press War Analyst
As the great battle for the Caucasus swells to the peak of the crisis on which the outcome of the war may depend, and Allied fortunes swing precariously in the balance, Providence spurs us to renewed efforts by making further disclosures of the extent of the Nazi and Japanese designs on the freedom of the world.

In one instance we have the German government broadcasting that Japanese Premier Tojo declared in a public speech "Japan is determined to destroy the United States and Great Britain." When Tojo talks of destroying the two great western powers he of course refers to destruction of their sovereignty.

That's merely a reiteration of the program of the Jap militarists. You may recall that Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto, commander-in-chief of the combined fleets of his country, once stated that "I am looking forward to dictating peace to the United States in the White House at Washington."

ENSLAVEMENT

Yamamoto is a fanatical patriot who works for a new world order in which the Anglo-Saxon powers would be inferior to Japan. A clear picture of what this means comes from the current disclosures by American newspapermen just repatriated from imprisonment in Japan. The treatment they reveal, coupled with previous authenticated reports of atrocities against prisoners, and the literal enslavement of hundreds of thousands of conquered Chinese, do not leave much room for doubt as to what the fate of the Allies would be if Japan could win this war.

Even more illuminating and shocking, however, is the information contained in documents made public by the British Information Service in New York with the announcement that they were found on captured German prisoners in Libya. One of these papers is a secret memorandum from the German high command, and the other is a statement by Hitler on post-war plans.

ALWAYS VASSALS

These documents depict a world in which the conquered nations would be permanently deprived of their freedom. They would be made vassals of Germany. Hitler's statement recognizes that these vanquished peoples would not be "well disposed to the Reich" and he therefore has made provision for the creation of a vast police force of Elite Guard soldiers who would wield the lash over the unhappy bondsmen.

This means that Hitler wouldn't trust control of the conquered peoples to his regular army. And his statement further makes it clear that he wouldn't trust control of the German people themselves to the regular army, indicating anticipation of possible trouble at home. Says the Nazi high priest:

"It must never again be tolerated in the future that the German armed forces conscripted from the whole people should be sent into action against their own fellow citizens. Such a step is the beginning of the end. A state which is compelled to resort to these measures thus renders itself incapable of sending its armed forces into action against the exterior foe, and thereby abdicates."

HAND-PICKED THUGS

Thus Hitler proposes to create a great personal Gestapo from hand-picked men who are his fanatical followers. What a difference between this Axis projected world, in which Christianity would be killed if possible, and the recent pronouncements from Secretary of State Hull and Foreign Secretary Eden, reaffirming the purpose of the United Nations to create a new world of freedom and equality.

Convention At Toronto

5-point C.C.F. Program For Victory, Total War

TORONTO (CP) — The National Council of the C.C.F. presented a five-point program for victory and total war to delegates attending the 10th anniversary convention of the party here today.

The report, read at the afternoon session of the convention, offered these objectives for Canada's war policy, mobilization for total war; democratic control of industry; protection of agriculture and fisheries; social justice; a democratic military policy.

Declaring "war planning and postwar policies are not separate problems, but two parts of the same fight for victory," the report also proposed these major plans for the postwar period: Development of natural resources; a housing program to eliminate slums; rural rehabilitation; a national security social system; a new program for education.

For its program of world reconstruction after the war, the council's report urged the establishment of an international commission to plan for the rehabilitation of peoples and areas devastated by war and a second international commission to formulate plans and machinery for a new world association of nations. To achieve mobilization for total war, the national council proposed public ownership where feasible, or "at least complete government control of war industries," nationalization of financial institutions, a 100 per cent tax on all profits in excess of 4 per cent, compulsory interest-free loans on large accumulations of wealth, a fixed ceiling of income with a 100 per cent tax on income in excess of the ceiling, and the selective use of manpower "whether in productive or military services, as part of a unified plan for the conservation of wealth and other resources."

"Canada as a self-governing country must share in the making of the war policies of the United Nations," said the report in discussing a democratic military policy. "There must be elimination of all class and race distinction in the armed forces, promotion from the ranks according to merit without favoritism and better educational facilities for the armed forces."

Dealing with postwar problems, the report said that "when peace comes there must be no going back to the old ways of doing business. A return to pre-war capitalism means a return to pre-war poverty... To ensure the minimum dislocation in changing from a war to peace economy, the C.C.F. calls for the immediate establishment of a post-war planning commission, truly representative of all classes of the community."

The report called for "a clear and immediate declaration of peace aims... by the United Nations. We need more than the vague principles of the Atlantic Charter. We must make it clear that the present struggle... is part of the people's revolution to usher in a new era of brotherhood and security for all the peoples of the world."

Crop Outlook Bright

OTTAWA (CP) — The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today that crop prospects "generally continue excellent" in western Canada, with some improvement shown in the Maritime

200 New Airfields

Huge Plane Base Completed In Australia

By MURLIN SPENCER
SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA (AP) — A huge airplane repair depot and base, equipped to pair damaged Allied planes damaged in battles and big enough to handle the United Nations' largest aircraft, has been constructed in record time at an undisclosed Australian site.

In giving details of the new and urgently-needed depot, Brig. Gen. Hugh J. Casey, United States engineering officer, also disclosed that the U.S. army, in cooperation with the Allied works council, has built at least 200 airfields and thousands of miles of new strategic highways in the Commonwealth during the last few months.

Gen. Casey, one of the army officers who came here with Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Philippines, outlined a tremendous plan for expansion of airfield facilities. Construction to date, he said, had by no means exhausted the plan.

GREAT ACHIEVEMENT

Australians hailed the massive new air depot as one of the greatest engineering jobs ever undertaken in the Commonwealth. Constructed in four months at a cost of about $9,750,000, the big base covers 30 square miles and has 450 buildings, including hangars and workshops.

It was built under the direction of the Allied Works Council, an agency composed of both Americans and Australians which undertakes work vital to the Allied war effort.

Salvaging of damaged planes already has started. When placed in full operation the airfield will be manned by several thousand skilled air force technicians.

The 2,650 members of the civil construction corps engaged in building the base represented the largest number of workmen employed simultaneously on such a job. Never before had so much money been spent in such a short period in the Commonwealth.

Cathedral Grove Question Revived

NANAIMO — Nanaimo City Council was notified Monday night by the Industrial Arbitration and Conciliation Board that J. T. W. Place, Wellington, has been appointed commissioner to hear the case of Nanaimo firemen and the city, in which the firemen are asking for a raise of wages. The council appointed Mayor V. B. Harrison and Alderman W. Grievs to act for the city at the hearing.

Council approved the formation of a health unit for the Central Vancouver Island as per plan submitted by the Provincial Board of Health.

Hon. Wells Gray, Provincial Minister of Lands, replied to a letter received from the city regarding preservation of Cathedral Grove on the Alberni highway. Mr. Gray said the government had tried for years to make provision for the preservation of this timber, but so far have only the assurance of present owners that they have no intention of cutting the timber in the near future, and before doing so, promise to notify the government. Regarding purchasing the property, Mr. Gray said the only method would be by public subscription or by the provincial government furnishing the money. No price had been set on the timber. Alderman W. Grievs believed, he said, the government was sliding from under on the proposition and

Nanaimo, Ladysmith Consolidate Schools

Shortage of teachers in British Columbia has led to the consolidation of 19 rural school districts in the vicinity of Nanaimo and Ladysmith into one area to be known as the Nanaimo-Ladysmith United Rural School district, Education Minister H. G. T. Perry said today.

Negotiations to this end were begun June 5 at a meeting attended by 35 delegates from the various school districts affected and by representatives of the Department of Education. Only two of the delegates dissented.

Besides releasing 12 highly qualified teachers for other Vancouver Island schools, the move will increase efficiency of educational facilities and lower the media costs of taxation from 6.29 mills to not more than 5.5 mills, South.

Solarium Gets $1,700 Cheque

A cheque for $1,700 is being presented to E. W. McMullen (right), president of the Queen Alexandra Solarium, by Neil Grant, president of the Victoria Gyro Club, at the weekly luncheon held in Terry's, Monday. The sum represents net proceeds of the recent hole-in-one contest, which was held in aid of the Solarium by the Gyro Club.

Contributing to the presentation ceremony, Alderman Archie Wills, charter member, and a past president of the organization, remarked that it was the aim of the Gyro clubs to dedicate their services to the younger people of the community. He related some of the work already done along these lines.

"We sincerely hope that this cheque will bring added happiness and new health to many children at the Solarium," Alderman Wills said, as he handed the cheque to Mr. Grant to present to Mr. McMullen.

Deep thanks were given the members by Mr. McMullen on receipt of the cheque. He told members the Solarium never had been intended to be absolutely self-supporting, and added that it was the splendid work of such clubs as the Gyros that the institution's work was progressing so well. He invited the Gyros to visit the Solarium themselves to see what was being done.

He thanked the club for appointing Alan Pendray to the directorate of the Solarium, and told of the splendid work he had been doing for the welfare of the institution.

The Gyro president stated that another $100 would be added to the $1,700 when the remainder of accounts were turned in. Last year the same club donated more than $1,500 to the same cause.

Report From Hongkong

Packed Like Animals In Filthy Cubicles

By VAUGHN MEISLING
LOURENCO MARQUES, Portuguese East Africa (AP) —

Laden like coolies with their personal belongings, British and American men, women and children were marched through Hongkong's most crowded streets by jubilant Japanese as dazed Chinese looked on when internment of Allied nationals began on Jan. 5.

It was the Japanese way of rubbing in the humiliation of the race which had ruled Hongkong for a century.

The white man had lost face. Hongkong had fallen in 18 days. Some 3,000 Americans, Britons and other Allied civilians were interned.

I was among 180 imprisoned in a squalid waterfront brothel in the poorest of the Chinese slums.

CALLS HOTEL

This dive, which the Japanese called a "hotel," was one of six such establishments they picked out in the Hongkong slums for our preliminary internment.

While Tokyo boasted that Japan was observing rules of the Geneva convention, we were packed like animals — men, women and children — into vermin-ridden cubicles, many without daylight, and forced to sleep on bare opium couches, floors and chairs reeking with filth.

For the first 30 hours there was no food at all. Then came wretched rice rations, supplemented by microscopic issues of vegetables and meat. Even these scant handouts were pilfered by servants, necessitating a watchful eye on every crumb.

The drinking water was dangerous and we were not permitted to boil it. There were no lights to be had at all. Walking a narrow roof space was the only exercise possible.

After 17 days of this we were marched by armed escorts 1½ miles to a steamer bound for the Stanley internment camp on the opposite side of Hongkong Island.

En route we saw two gendarmes beat a Chinese to death after a trivial disturbance in a rice queue.

The Stanley camp was without lights, sufficient heat, beds, bedding, furniture or cooking facilities.

All the 3,000 internees eventually were billeted in the shell-damaged prison and officers' quarters and in adjoining Stephen's College for Chinese were found late in the spring.

Electric current finally was restored after three weeks. The Britons and Americans quickly organized communal cooking, sanitation, clinics and welfare activities.

LOW IN CALORIES

Food remained a big problem throughout our internment, with the Japanese-issued ration — mainly rice — hitting a 900-calorie low in March.

Malnutrition caused widespread beriberi, debility, loss of weight. A dysentery epidemic raged in the spring. Owing to a food shortage, 12

Ralston Speaks

Staff Changes At Ottawa Since Hongkong

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Ralston said in the House of Commons that the ill-fated Canadian expedition to Hongkong accomplished the most important task required of it — to gain some time for the United Nations in the Pacific.

The minister bespoke his pride in the Canadians in their fight of almost three weeks against the Japanese in that crown colony last December as he concluded a long address Monday night in the debate on the Hongkong inquiry report presented by Sir Lyman Duff.

Col. Ralston supported the finding of the royal commissioner. He said the only inefficiency in the National Defence Department revealed by the inquiry had been in regard to transport.

The minister said Maj. Gen. E. J. Schmidth, quartermaster-general when the expedition was organized, had been asked to take another post following examination of the circumstances under which some mechanized equipment did not reach Vancouver in time to be placed aboard the troopship carrying the troops to Hongkong. Gen. Schmidth had declined the other appointment and was retired.

The minister also mentioned Lt. Col. E. H. Spearing, officer in charge of movement control in the quartermaster-general's department, who, in the commissioner's opinion, had not exercised due vigilance in respect to the shipment of the same vehicles. Col. Spearing was retired after the commissioner's report was received.

LESSONS LEARNED

Col. Ralston said lessons had been learned from Hongkong, the quartermaster-general's branch had been reorganized and strengthened where required.

The minister told of "unit after unit" being trained in anti-aircraft operations as he recited training achievements in Canada. Provision had been made for an output of 8,000 young officers a year from training centres, but facilities were being increased to turn out 12,000 a year.

Two army trade schools had a capacity of 3,500 men a month. There was a driving and maintenance school at Woodstock, Ont., a battle training school, a bush and mountain warfare training centre, and a parachute training school would be operating shortly, in addition to two anti-aircraft and gas defence training centres, the chemical warfare training centres, two Canadian Women's Army Corps training centres and a cookery school.

There were 41 basic training Britons who died of the disease during the six months that we were there were buried from the same sliding-bottomed coffin which became a permanent fixture.

The most striking sociological feature of the internment camp was the complete social revolution — a millionaire could be seen sweeping a gutter and titled Englishwomen sorting cigarette butts for the pipes of their distinguished husbands because of the tobacco shortage.

The shortage of smokes reduced the internees to the use of the cheapest native "tobacco," tea and ginger leaves, coffee grounds and pine needles as substitutes.

Burlap bags, flour sacks, curtains, sheets and towels became dresses. Several men wore Chinese skull caps, one sported a fez and others made over their wives' castoff hats.

centres and 25 advanced training schools in Canada.

The minister said no one could regret more than he that the 1,900 Canadians sent to Hongkong were not successful in holding the colony.

Of the movement he said: "It was not perfect. Mistakes were made, there were slip-ups, there were delays in connection with matters to which the commission refers."

The defence department had been aware of the changes which had occurred in the Pacific situation between Sept. 29 and Oct. 27 and saw no reason for the withdrawal by Canada of the responsibility she had accepted.

Conservative House Leader Hanson asked if there was not something which would have justified reconsideration.

Col. Ralston said such reconsideration could have been for only one purpose — "to quit on the job we had undertaken."

There would have been "a question mark" in the minds of all people if Canada had refused to send the force because of a change of government in Japan. Although the men had no actual firing practice in some of their latest weapons, Col. Ralston said he did not believe the lack of training was any disqualification against their going to Hongkong when they did.

EXPERIENCED OFFICERS

Col. Ralston protested at criticisms of defence headquarters officers and said 67.9 per cent of them had been overseas in the first Great War or the present war, and "every one of them would give his eyeteeth to go overseas again."

Since the Hongkong incident there had been 20 changes of appointments at headquarters and 17 new appointments, Col. Ralston said, but not all of them because of the Hongkong incident.

Of the 37 officers involved 21 were "new blood," men brought in from the outside.

He said he gave this information "to comfort" Howard Green, Conservative, Vancouver South. In the event his motion calling for reorganization of defence headquarters failed to carry.

TORONTO LIMITS
MEDICAL FACULTY

TORONTO (CP)—The wartime rush of men into medicine has forced the University of Toronto to restrict entries for the first time. This fall the faculty will admit only 125 or 150 first-year students, compared with 205 a year ago. Selection will be based on special aptitude tests.

A few students from other Canadian provinces will be admitted, but preference will be given those from Ontario. "We would have more than 500 Americans in first year Meds every year if we opened our doors," said Dr. W. J. Dunlop, director of extension.

Dr. Dunlop said: "Fifth and sixth year students are being admitted to the army while students. This helps to carry them through. It is hoped that a system of loans will be inaugurated for students in other years."

Registration in engineering has shown increase since the start of the war, but no restriction in enrolment is planned. In the 1941-42 school year there were 470 in first year, nearly double the second-year figure.

"At the start of the fourth year of the first Great War there was scarcely a man on the campus," Dr. Dunlop said. "That can be explained by the fact that this war is being fought with machines and brains. Today we have to educate our men to be specialists."

Magnuson's Views

Foresees Road
North Across B.C.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Magnuson (Democrat, Washington State), told the House Monday he believed the United States navy "knows what it is doing in Alaska" and said the territory was needed as a springboard for an attack on Japan.

He was discussing the selection by the army of the prairie route for a road to Alaska and said he believed the army realized it had made a mistake. He said the road was wanted by Canadians to connect airfields which would be part of a round-the-world route after the war.

The representative, who recently served six months as a lieutenant commander with a navy task force in the Pacific, reviewed the situation leading up to the selection of the route for the Alaska highway by the army and recalled Congress had advocated a road to the territory for six years. He said the military authorities, three days after Pearl Harbor, had labelled the Alaska highway as "of no great military importance."

Magnuson said the survey for a railroad to Alaska soon would be completed and to construct the railroad it would be necessary first to construct a highway along a route recommended by the Alaska International Highway Commission to get material and men to the rail route. The pilot road now being constructed by the army had caused delay in getting a highway to Alaska while if another route farther west had been chosen it would be well toward completion now.

"I think that what we are going to end up with," Magnuson said, "is a railroad, the pilot road and a road, which is much better than we started out with."

Miss M. Agnew Dead

NELSON (CP)—Miss Margaret L. Agnew of Victoria, who was in charge of the Galt mines office of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Lethbridge, Alta., for many years prior to her retirement, died here Monday. She was visiting her nephew, Hume A. Lethbridge and Mrs. Lethbridge, at the time of her death.

Miss Agnew is survived by two brothers, Harry M. Agnew of Winnipeg and Fred R. Agnew of Vancouver, and a sister, Mrs. J. E. Lethbridge of Kelowna.

Urges U.S. Clear
Aleutians

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Senator Monrad C. Wallgren (Democrat, Washington State), says that "higher-ups in Washington" are responsible for the failure of American forces to drive the Japanese invaders out of the Aleutian Islands.

"I can't especially find any criticism of the army and navy on the coast," Wallgren told Newsmen.

"But I think the higher-ups in Washington, who determine strategy, should take steps to drive them out immediately. They're digging in and entrenching themselves daily."

"Every day the Japs are allowed to stay there means it will take that much longer or more to drive them out. And every day they are allowed to stay there means that many, many more American lives are going to be lost before they are driven out."

"I can't see why something isn't done at once, without delay."

Wallgren is a member of a Senate military affairs subcommittee that is awaiting approval of the army for a trip to Alaska to investigate the nation's defenses there.

"The army may find it awkward to afford special protection to a group of congressmen," said Wallgren. "It's up to them whether we shall go or not. We were supposed to start Aug. 5."

The Washington senator is here now in another capacity, as a member of a Senate subcommittee on light metals and aviation of the Senate Truman investigating committee. The group inspected Bay area defence plants and installations Monday.

Suggest Prisoners
Harvest in Alberta

EDMONTON (CP)—To combat the harvest labor shortage the Alberta government is recommending the use, where practicable, of available Japanese labor and enemy internees, the provincial department of agriculture states.

A committee of labor, farm and government officials, also has suggested short-term prisoners could work on farms during the harvest period.

To maintain Canada's food supply, the committee asks that the National War Services Board delay calling up all men for the army until the end of the harvest season. As an alternative it recommends that those accepted for military service and who are willing to engage in harvest work be granted leave of absence for such work.

no direct entries are being made into the Royal Canadian Navy but from time to time transfers are made of ratings who are recommended by their commanding officers as being suitable in all respects for the permanent navy.

Nazi Armed Trawler
Sunk by British

LONDON (AP)—The Admiralty issued the following communique today:

"In the early hours of this morning, a patrol of our light forces intercepted two enemy armed trawlers off Cherbourg. Our patrol was at once engaged and one of the enemy armed trawlers was sunk. The other was heavily damaged and made off towards the coast under cover of smoke."

"At daylight today, one of our patrols was subjected to air attack, but only minor damage was suffered. There were two casualties. The next of kin are being informed."

Senate Debates
Conscription

OTTAWA (CP)—The Senate Monday launched debate on an amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act to remove restrictions on compulsory overseas service—25 years to the day after Canada's Upper House debated the Military Service Act of Sir Robert Borden's Conservative government.

Three speakers, Senator J. H. King, government leader in the Upper House, Senator C. C. Ballantyne, Conservative Senate leader, and Senator C. P. Beauchamp, Con. Quebec, supported the amendment. It was opposed by Senator Sir Thomas Chabais, Con. Quebec.

Senate leader King led the debate, moving second reading of the bill.

"Opposition to compulsory service would disappear if facts were faced realistically," he said. "We have had sufficient warning in recent weeks to give us a new perspective."

MANPOWER NEEDS
A point had been reached in which the manpower situation was extremely urgent, and conscription might become necessary if the armed forces were to be enlarged as far as possible.

The United States had shown no hesitation in sending her forces to all parts of the world, Senator King said.

Senator Ballantyne said the plebiscite vote was in reality a vote on compulsory service, and the Canadian people would be bitterly disappointed if the government did not act to bring in compulsory service in the face of the most critical situation since the Battle of Britain.

"The Canadian people want action, bold action and quick action now," the Conservative leader said.

Sir Thomas Chabais said he opposed conscription 25 years ago, and he was opposing it again. He believed it was against the national interest, was not legal and would not make any contribution toward the efficiency of the armed forces.

Quebec's attitude, he said, did not mean her people were lacking in patriotism or sacrifice. They believed rather that voluntary service was the proper and most efficient method of contributing to the war effort.

Supreme Court
Of U.S. to Rule
On Saboteurs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A possibility that President Roosevelt's wartime powers might be tested by the United States Supreme Court arose today as the nation's highest tribunal interrupted its summer recess to determine whether any of the alleged Nazi saboteurs on trial before a secret military commission are entitled to the processes prescribed by the Bill of Rights.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone announced through the court clerk that a special term would be held tomorrow so that counsel for certain of the prisoners may apply for habeas corpus writs. If the court should decide to entertain the petitions, and then grant them, the case might be transferred to a federal district court.

In appointing a military commission to try the eight suspects secretly "for offenses against the law of war and the articles of war," President Roosevelt issued a proclamation denying any appeal to civil courts by persons who have entered the country since the war for the purpose of committing hostile acts against the government.

Informed persons, who withheld the use of their names, said petitions would be presented on behalf of seven of the eight defendants, whose testimony was completed before the military tribunal Monday after a 16-day hearing. It was conjectured unofficially that the eighth defendant was George John Dash, who has been represented by separate counsel.

The men are accused of coming ashore from Nazi submarines to blow up American war installations.

Prof. Philip Says

Frenchmen In Revolt
If United Nations Strike

LONDON (CP)—Prof. Andre Philip, escaped French underground leader, said here Monday that an Allied invasion "would throw all occupied France into immediate revolt."

Philip, who reached Britain to join Gen. Charles de Gaulle, warned, however, that "an unsuccessful invasion would result in a terrible slaughter by the Germans."

"If an affair like St. Nazaire, when the people fought alongside the Commandos, is repeated two or three times, then the slaughter by the Germans will break the people's spirit," he said.

He asserted that for the first year after the fall of France, broadcasts by the BBC were the core of resistance by underground groups.

DISAPPOINTED
He added, however, that "warnings such as were given recently that people move away from the French coast are playing with the nerves of the people. They wait each day, ready to help an invasion, which never comes."

He said that despite bloody blows by the Gestapo, largely in Paris, French underground resistance had grown steadily since the United States entered the war.

Prof. Philip said the underground organization in France

2 National Anthems
In Canada Says King

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said Monday in the House of Commons that during wartime Canada might "well continue" to follow the custom of recent years of "regarding God Save the King and O Canada each as national anthems and entitled to similar recognition."

"That is the position which the government takes and I think it is one which will be generally approved by the country," said Mr. King in comment on an inquiry by A. W. Neill, Ind. Comox-Alberni.

AIR FORCE ATTRACTS

TORONTO (CP)—More than 50 per cent of 1942's girl graduates of the University of Toronto have made application for entry into the uniformed services or into some branch of war work. Miss A. E. M. Parkes, acting secretary of the Students' Administrative Council, says: "The air force seems to be the most popular branch but the army draws many. Some are hoping for admission into the navy."

The men are accused of coming ashore from Nazi submarines to blow up American war installations.

Canada Trains
Paratroops

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston told the House of Commons a battalion of Canadian paratroops had been authorized and that training would be started soon.

Men who would give instruction in paratroop work were leaving for the United States to gather "immediate instruction" on paratroop training there.

Co-operation with the R.C.A.F. on paratroop training was being arranged.

In a review of training operations of the Canadian army, given Monday night during debate on the Hongkong expedition inquiry report, Col. Ralston said he regarded the training in England by the British forces as close to the acme, and said the Canadian authorities had kept in touch with what was being done in the United States.

CO-ORDINATION

An effort was made to keep training in Canada in line with that in England. If a reorganization were to be undertaken it would effect men with experience overseas like Maj.-Gen. J. C. Murchie, vice-chief of the general staff, Brig. E. G. Weeks, in charge of training, and Lt.-Col. H. A. Sparling and Lt.-Col. R. H. Keefer.

"These are the so-called brass hats we hear about," said Col. Ralston.

He made no apologies for such men. The Minister of National Defence could be changed at any time it was desired but the men in charge of training so valuable at present could not be changed. Col. Sparling was going back to England and Col. Keefer would probably take his place in the training establishment.

Col. Ralston said commando training now was being given in British Columbia, under the direction of Lt.-Col. J. F. Scott, formerly of Calgary, who had returned from overseas. The training establishment was at Vernon, B.C. Instructors were being trained at that school and sent back to their units to give training in that kind of military activity.

Combined training was also being given at Vernon, with battalions sent there one at a time for combined operations with the Royal Canadian Air Force and with the navy.

Saskatoon Bars Japs

SASKATOON (CP)—City council has refused to accede to a request from six British Columbia Japanese who wished to make their home here. The Japanese applied for permission to live in Saskatoon several weeks ago, but the council deferred action on their request from week to week, until Monday night.

One of the letters which the council received objecting to the admission of the Japanese said that along with it was a petition bearing 2,500 signatures opposed to any Japanese influx.

EDMONTON (CP)—Action on the appellate court's majority judgment that the Legal Proceedings Suspension Act, passed at the last session of the Alberta Legislature, is ultra vires of the province, is understood to be under consideration by the provincial government. UNIVERSITY of the AIR

In the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan Canada has one of the greatest schools for fighting airmen the world has ever seen. Less than three years old, it already operates over 100 airmen the year round, 141 schools and other establishments and over 2,000 buildings.

At some of the airmen planes frequently leave the ground every few seconds, at others they fly day and night. On the average over 1,000,000 miles are flown daily. Thousands of graduates are now at grips with the enemy—over Britain, Europe, Africa, the Far East—in every theatre of war.

Australia, New Zealand, Canada and the United Kingdom are partners in the plan. It is, however, essentially Canadian. Canada is supplying 80% of the man power and in the first three years will provide for its operation over $600,000,000—considerably more than is collected in taxes by the Dominion Government in a normal year.

This advertisement is published as a contribution to the general knowledge of our country's war effort and as an inspiration through the days ahead. For reasons of security complete figures are not available. The facts presented, however, are impressive evidence of the growing might of Canada's war machine.

Sir Stafford's Warning

ALWAYS A GOOD FRIEND OF INDIA, ready to go far to plead her case for complete self-government, Sir Stafford Cripps indicated in his radio address to the people of North America on Sunday that he had about lost patience with Mahatma Gandhi and his extraordinary antics in the presence of the greatest external peril to which the country has ever been exposed. Under no consideration, the Lord Privy Seal warned, must a "visionary" be allowed to thwart the plans of the United Nations for victory in the East. The conditions of the moment, of course, transcend in all their vital implications the whims of one man or one party. "American, Chinese, Indian and British soldiers must not be sacrificed in the gallant struggle for the liberty of the world by political party manoeuvring in India or in any other country," pointedly remarked Sir Stafford as he reminded his American audience that "your sons as well as ours are helping to defend India and wage war against the Japanese."

And what is Mr. Gandhi's latest blast in his own newspaper? He warns the Japanese against expecting a welcome if they invade India and asks the enemy of the United Nations not to misinterpret the meaning of his party's demand for independence; but he adds that he is agitating now, not to embarrass the democratic coalition, but because he believes the Allied powers will be unable to beat the Axis combination unless India is free. So Tokyo replies with the assurance that the Japanese will readily and enthusiastically collaborate with Indian leaders to obtain for them complete and lasting freedom from British authority—presumably in conjunction with Premier Tojo's grandiose scheme for obliterating Australia and reducing the United States to Japanese will. What can be done with a man whose "ascetic life" and "fifty ideals" are capitalized by a relatively few political opportunists who seem to revel in the prospect of mass chaos as an instrument to serve their own ends and nothing more?

Between now and August 7, when the Gandhi proposal is to be submitted to the Congress Party's general committee in Bombay, much may have happened in southeastern Russia if Hitler's Wehrmacht continues at its present rate of progress. In the meantime, however, it is to be noted that never before has the party's plan for mass action—"nonviolent nonco-operation" intended to force complete independence at once—been accompanied by so much hostility from its own press as now. Such nationalistic journals as the Bombay Chronicle, the Lahore Tribune, and the Madras Hindu are assailing the Congress working committee's resolution, while Mohammed Ali Jinnah's weekly newspaper, speaking for the Muslim League, denounces it as a "challenge to the British government, the United States, and all other parties in India." Even the Axis world must be wondering whether it is seeing or hearing things correctly.

Subsidy for Butter

DAIRY FARMERS WHO PRODUCE milk for butter are to be paid a federal subsidy of six cents a pound butterfat. In the face of a growing butter shortage, Ottawa had three possible courses. It could have sanctioned a higher price which would have assured an adequate supply of butter, but which would have increased the cost of living index and added to the difficulty of maintaining the price ceiling; it could have resorted to rationing the dwindling butter supplies; or it could make butter production more attractive to the dairymen by paying them enough out of the public treasury to bring their return from butter production into line with what they are getting for other milk products. Ottawa chose the third course as less disturbing to the price structure and with a view to keeping up the consumption of butter as an essential of good health for the people.

The Ottawa Journal, in an analysis of the dairy situation, has found that although some 50 per cent of all milk produced in Canada is marketed in the form of butter, the farmers who produce butter have not been getting as high a price for their product as have dairymen marketing other products. In fact, they have been getting about 25 per cent less than cheese milk producers, the next lowest group. The result has been that, wherever possible, dairymen have been switching milk from creameries to other markets, and production has dropped to an alarming extent. At the same time, the tendency has been for consumption to increase, while stocks usually produced during the lush season for future use were not accumulating.

Whether the six-cent subsidy will be enough to bring butter production up to consumption demands can only be determined in the months to come. It, however, will relieve housewives for the time being, at least, of the fear of having to pay more. In the British Columbia coastal area dairymen have been disposing of their cows. The subsidy should encourage them to keep their herds. This will be all to the good in the matter of future milk supplies as well as butter.

Income Tax Amendments

UNDER AMENDMENT TO THE ORIGINAL budget plan for collection of income taxes on the new high rates, employers will deduct from each pay cheque the gross amount of tax for which employees are liable. The original proposal called for employers to deduct stated percentages, leaving the balance to be paid by the employee in a bulk sum at the end of the year. The change is eminently sensible. It should make less complicated the accounting work of the employers and in the long run it should make the payment less onerous for the employee. The latter will have the satisfaction of knowing that he is always paid up, with no need to worry about how he is to meet a large accumulated payment at the end of the year. It will also be of benefit to the government, which will thereby be assured of 100 per cent collection, instead of taking a chance on taxpayers who might before the end of the year change their employment and residence without clearing up what they owe. Another advantage will be derived from the withdrawal of excess purchasing power from the stream of national income throughout the year, which is one of the objectives of the anti-inflation campaign.

Other reasonable changes affecting the individual income taxpayer have to do with three classes of loan exemption. Trade union pension payments are now included with superannuation, retirement or other pension payments as offsets to the compulsory savings requirements. In addition to premiums on life insurance and on mortgages in force on June 23, premiums up to a maximum of $100 on new insurance on a straight life contract or one-half the first year's premium, annuity payments and certain forms of installment savings now rate as deductions from the compulsory savings total for which the individual taxpayer is liable. Arrangements for sale are also to be recognized if in force before June 23. Persons over 65 years of age will be exempt from the compulsory loan requirement if their income is less than $5,000, instead of the original figure of $3,000.

Concessions in the matter of insurance, mortgages and annuities are nothing but fair to the individual who has assumed obligations under these heads. In effect, they are not exceptions to the government's savings policy as they recognize and encourage thrift. Besides the payments the individual makes on these accounts are savings which indirectly are made available to the government as the companies to which they are paid invest them in government loans.

The CBC

ONE OF THE RECOMMENDATIONS from the special radio committee of the House of Commons conveys the impression that it thinks Major Gladstone Murray, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, has done good work in the arrangement of programs but contends that the business direction of such an intricate concern should be entrusted to one better qualified than he.

There is nothing startling in the discovery that few men in this world can do two distinct jobs equally well. Through his own native ability, and by reason of experience gained in the radio fare department of the British Broadcasting Corporation, Major Murray evidently equipped himself for the administration of that part of the nationally-owned utility with which the public is most familiar. But his own testimony, in the recent inquiry and on a former occasion, clearly revealed that he was not cut out to be an expert business executive; nor does he claim possession of the meticulous mentality of a chartered accountant. And it was none other than Mr. Lloyd George who once said that the science of government and the science of business are as different as black and white.

Consequently, when the committee contends that the office of general manager of the CBC should be filled by one "fitted to discharge all the duties of the chief executive officer of the corporation," one of the first orders of Parliament should be for a complete reorganization of the institution without delay.

Holds Good Today

AWAY BACK IN 1810 THE DUKE OF Wellington wrote a letter to the then British Secretary of State for War of which the following is a part:

"I must remind your Lordship—for the last time—that so long as I retain an independent position, I shall see that no officer under my command is debarr'd by attending to the futile driving of mere quill driving in your Lordship's office—from attending to his first duty—which is, and always has been, so to train the private men under his command that they may, without question, beat any force opposed to them in the field."

Our neighbor's War Department has publicized the letter because Washington thinks that many commanders in the United States army may feel as the Iron Duke felt 132 years ago.

YOUR MONEY OR YOUR LIFE

From Port Arthur, News-Chronicle
The traditional demand of the highwayman is popularly supposed to be "Money or your life."

The alternative, money or your lives, has been placed before the people of Canada by the Minister of Finance, Hon. J. L. Ilsley, in the form of the budget which sets forth a new tax schedule.

The difference is that Mr. Ilsley is not himself the highwayman. He speaks only because of the great highwayman, Adolf Hitler, and his Nazi cohorts whose conduct has been such that the alternative is of necessity passed on to the people of Canada as well as of other countries.

Sergeant-Major

THEY LAUGHED AT HIM

ONE OF THE BASIC reasons for the failure of the Allied Nations in this war so far, writes Alan Morley of the Vancouver Sun, is the fact that they learned to laugh, since the Armistice, at the blood-thirsty sergeant-major instructor who gave the lads bayonet training in the last war. This was the old hero, you remember, who was always urging you to hate the guts of the straw-filled sack you attacked with 14 inches of awkwardly-handled cold steel. You had to grunt—and you had to sweat—you had to grind your teeth and hate that dummy to death before you could satisfy him.

After the last war we all began to laugh at the sergeant-major. Even in the army today he is still regarded as a slightly comic figure—the rankers are too intelligent and the officers too gentlemanly and scientific to emulate him.

The man-in-the-street has gone in for brotherly love, the politicians for economic theory, and the soldiers for technology—hence Dunkerque, the retreat from Libya and the fall of Singapore... because none of them believe any more what the sergeant-major taught.

The plain matter of fact, of course, is that you have to hate the enemy like hell before you can beat him. The Japs and Nazis hated us—and look what they have done!—The Dagoes didn't hate anybody—and look at what happened to them.

DEAD MEN COUNT

DON'T TALK ABOUT planes and tanks and artillery and shells being the decisive factor. If we hate hard enough we'll have just as many planes, tanks, guns and shells as the enemy—but they are, even then, a secondary consideration. The Japs had more planes, guns, tanks and shells than we had—and they took Singapore and Hongkong. But the Chinese didn't have any planes, tanks, guns and shells at all—and they stopped the Japs cold.

They had hate! We talk about morale, and the ordinary citizen has so much morale that he just can't believe we can be beaten—but we are. The civilian experts pin their faith on economic power, blockades and production—but somehow the enemy always gets there first, with bigger tanks and more planes and too many guns. Our gentlemanly generals immerse themselves in the science of strategy and the technology of tactics—and produce an impassable Maginot Line, an impregnable Singapore, an inviolable Pearl Harbor.

The basic principle that we have forgotten is that which the sergeant-major used to teach his bayonet class—that the final, unanswerable argument in war is a dead man.

The only way to win a war is to seek the enemy out and kill him—"deader 'n hell." You have to hate him—hate so completely and thoroughly that nothing will let you rest, nothing will satisfy your raging hunger but your bayonet in his belly and his corpse under your feet.

That is the business of war—be as scientific as you like, be as cool, calculating and intelligent as you wish, be as confident and resolved as you can, be as assured as you wish of the righteousness of your cause—but if your learning, your calculations, your confidence and your motives are not inspired by the burning determination to seek out your enemy and rend, tear, kill, burn and destroy, they will avail you naught.

BURNING HATE

THE BUSINESS OF WAR is the business of killing, and the only way to make a success of the business of killing is to hate.

The Nazis have won so many battles because they hate us and our Allies so much that they have thought of nothing except ways to kill—new ways and old ways, as long as they worked. They have lost the war in Russia because the Russians hate them so much that they can think of nothing but ways to kill Nazis. Neither Nazis nor Russians make or like "officers and gentlemen," nor like a "fine, intelligent body of men." They make war like killers and tough, hard, burning haters.

The sergeant-major was right. You've got to hate to kill, and you have to kill to win.

It's not nice, it's not Christian, it's not civilized—it just happens to be... war! And until every fighting man we have has an insatiable thirst for blood and death, until every worker in the nation loves the guns and ships and shells and tanks he makes because they spell death and destruction and ruin to Huh and Jap. Until every civilian, high and low, can take a personal private, glowing joy in every single dead and shattered enemy, we will continue to fight—and lose—glorious, sportsmanlike battles.

Pretty terrible, isn't it? But that's the way THEY think of YOU. And why they win!

Waste Now Is Criminal

Director, Consumer Branch, War-time Prices and Trade Board

Consumers all across Canada are growing conservation-conscious. They are realizing more and more that those of us on the home front must fight with our assembly lines, our toothpaste, tubes, our automobile tires, our pants' cuffs and our electrical refrigerators.

"Conserve and salvage" is their slogan.

Every woman who extends the life span of an electric cord is contributing to the war effort. Every housewife who keeps the refrigerator door gasket clean, thereby prolonging the life of that hard-to-get rubber, is making it possible for the Canadian lad on a far-flung front to have the weapons of war he requires. Every young lady who gently works her hand into her glove instead of pulling it on with a jerk, is helping to make goods less scarce.

War has taken away many of the things that went into our daily living. Factories that made radios and automobiles and sport-

DOCTORS AID RUSSIA

J. B. Priestley in London Calling

There is now a successful campaign for the purchase—in America, incidentally—and dispatch of mobile X-ray units, which are of course worth their weight in gold on the Eastern Front.

One of the most strikingly successful appeals was made directly to the medical profession itself in its journal, the Lancet, and in response to it hundreds and hundreds of physicians, surgeons and nurses sent in cases of equipment and instruments, anything useful that they could possibly spare from their professional kit.

One rather touching fact here is that many refugee doctors who are not allowed to practice in Britain because they are not qualified to do so here, but who had kept their instruments in the hope of using them again somewhere after the war, sent in those instruments as a self-sacrificing tribute to our Russian Allies.

THE WAR—25 YEARS TODAY

JULY 28, 1917—Germans occupied Kutly in the Carpathians and reached the Russian frontier on both sides of Husiatyn. In aerial fighting over the Western Front, 31 German planes were shot down and 30 more damaged; 16 British planes downed.

I think the facts about what has happened to Italy and to the Italian people under the Hitler leadership speak mightily well for themselves.—Cordell Hull, Secretary of State.

French Recipe
for
MUSTARD SAUCE

Mrs. Oscar Langlois, Ottawa

FRENCH-CANADIAN women have a unique reputation for fine cooking. Each has her own special recipe for which she is famed in her community and Mrs. Oscar Langlois, of 24 Chapel Street, Ottawa, is no exception. Friends are delighted to receive a jar of her special mustard sauce.

1/4 cup cooking oil or melted butter
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 pinch of pepper (red)
1/4 cup black molasses
1/2 cup vinegar

Mix together gradually and beat with a wooden spoon until smooth.

"I keep this mustard sauce in the house all the time," said Mrs. Langlois. "The recipe makes quite a large jar and my family does not like any mustard but this on the table. We like it in sandwiches and on cold meat—it is just the thing to make leftovers of all kinds into tasty dishes. But to prepare the sauce correctly, you must be sure to use the very best mustard."

The secret of appetizing sauces is to give them a piquant flavour without making them too strong. For this purpose the purity of Colman's Mustard is ideal. It is ground from genuine pure, strong mustard seed and is packed in handy tins which retain all the smooth, piquant flavour.

Bishop Cody Opens New Wing Of St. Joseph's Nurses' Home

In the presence of about 300 friends of the hospital, Rt. Rev. J. C. Cody, Bishop of Victoria, performed the official opening ceremony of the new wing of St. Joseph's nurses' home Monday afternoon. The occasion marked another red-letter event in the history of this pioneer hospital, and Bishop Cody, Mr. J. Villiers Fisher, who acted as chairman of the formal part of the proceedings, and Dr. F. M. Bryant of the hospital advisory board, in their brief addresses, all referred to the long record of service to the community rendered by the Sisters of St. Ann.

REVIEWS PROGRESS

Mr. Fisher, in reviewing the progress of the nurses' home, recalled that only a comparatively few years ago it had housed 30 nurses. Today that number had grown to about 191 nurses, attesting to the growth of the hospital and the progress of the medical and nursing sciences. Attributing much of its progress to the loyal and devoted work of the Sisters, he described the hospital as "an edifice created by service, loving care and sacrifice, for the good of man to the glory of God."

Dr. Bryant touched upon the history of St. Joseph's, going back to the arrival of the first four Sisters of St. Ann in 1858, and the subsequent establishment in 1876 of the pioneer centre for nursing service in the convent grounds. Since then over 700 nurses had graduated from the hospital training school and were serving not only in the civilian hospitals throughout this continent, but also in the overseas hospitals for the armed forces.

Mr. Harry Whitaker, provincial government architect, and Mr. A. Sullivan, the contractor, also spoke briefly.

CHRISTIANITY'S PART

Bishop Cody, after paying tribute to the Sisters, referred to the Ladies' Auxiliary and their splendid work. The auxiliary, he pointed out, embraced not only adherents of the Roman Catholic Church, but members of other faiths, as were many of the generous donors to the hospital. And St. Joseph's tried to reciprocate this co-operative spirit in its service to all who needed healing ministrations, irrespective of creed, he said.

Of the nursing services, His Excellency emphasized that all the medicine in the world would not take the place of sympathy, love and kindness. To that end, St. Joseph's realized the value of a Christian influence in the training of its nurses. If the world were ever to recover from its present ills, it was essential that general recognition be given to the fact that the personality which must dominate the world is that of Our Lord, Jesus Christ, he said. "This is no time for Christians to harp on points of differences in creed. We must all unite in an effort to close our ranks that the wave of paganism which is sweeping the world may not cause its complete destruction," the bishop concluded.

MUSICAL NUMBERS

The musical part of the program, which was given in the nurses' auditorium, included singing of O Canada, led by the student nurses, who also later sang "There'll Always Be An England." Keith Litterer and Maureen Rogers, pupils of Sister Mary Noreen of St. Ann's Academy, delighted the visitors with songs, Keith singing "Bless This House" and "Princess Elizabeth," and later, with Maureen, sang "No, Sir!"

Visitors then followed the Bishop, the Sisters and official party to the new wing, where His Excellency cut the crimson sash ribbon at the entrance. The little chapel, which is in the centre of the new wing, was beautifully arranged with red and white gladioli and carnations. In the hospital colors, for the occasion.

At the close of the formal proceedings tea was served in the auditorium, student nurses assisting.

Will Raffle Horse At Garden Gala at Government House

The lovely grounds of Government House will present a gala appearance on Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 12, when stalls will vie in color with the flower-beds, and the air will resound to the noise of "barkers" at the Funway, music by a band, and the hum of conversation from the crowds of expected visitors. For on that day the grand garden gala will be held in aid of the Red Cross, and under the able leadership of Mrs. Chas. E. Wilson, the general convener, women's groups, service clubs and many individual workers are rallying to make the affair an outstanding social and financial success.

BABY STALL

In addition to the stalls previously announced, Mrs. Wilson has enlisted the co-operation of the following: Mrs. Duncan MacBride has undertaken the management of the baby stall, assisted by Mrs. G. Denbigh and the Red Cross units of View Royal, George Jay, Margaret Jenkins, Oaklands and Fairfield. Home cooking is being convayed by Mrs. T. A. Johnston, co-convener Mrs. C. Conyers, and assisted by the Gordon Head, Cadboro Bay, Mt. Tolmie and Jubilee Red Cross units, and also Red Cross units of the Canadian Daughters, St. John's Guild and P.E.O. Chapters I, N. K. E. and Q.

Miss Kathleen Agnew, assisted by Red Cross units of Esquimalt, Cloverdale and overseas—nurses will be in charge of the white elephant stall, while checking stall will be managed by Mrs. P. Pearson and the Red Cross units of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Central Baptist Church and the Hard of Hearing Club. The refreshment stall where soft drinks and cookies will be served is being organized by Mrs. F. G. Aldous, assisted by members of the Women's Canadian Club. The St. John Ambulance first aid station is in the hands of Mrs. W. P. D. Pemberton.

THE FUNWAY

The Funway, which will in variety and attraction equal the midway of any country fair, is being convayed by Mr. E. Reeves Cawley. The organization and arrangements of the amusements stalls is being undertaken by the Rotary, Kiwanis, Gyro, Kinsmen, Lions, Elks and D.O.K.K., all well-known Victoria service clubs. The members of these clubs are determined to prove to Victorians generally that they know how to put on a Funway that will be remembered for many a long day.

Mr. E. E. Henderson is honorary treasurer and Mr. F. W. Jones "property man." It was found that there were so many stalls and attractions being organized that it was necessary to have one official in charge with power to act, and Mr. Jones consented to take that position.

TO RAFFLE HORSE

Among the interesting prizes that will be competed for is "Whirlaway," a beautiful and valuable saddle horse which will, after the drawing on Aug. 12, be the property of some lucky man, woman or child.

The members of the Canadian Red Cross Corps will be on duty in their attractive uniforms, and Boy Scouts, always anxious and eager to help, will be here, there and everywhere.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning E 8922 or calling at 1162 McClure Street, where Mrs. H. S. Beckton and Miss E. M. Macrae are in charge between 9.30 and 4 each day.

Pioneer Woman Had Lived 97 Years In Interior of B.C.

Born in Fort George, B.C., 97 years ago, Mrs. Betsy Cooney, one of the oldest and most picturesque pioneers of British Columbia, died last week at her home at Tranquille, near Kamloops, on the ranch on which she spent 72 years of her life. During her long residence at Tranquille, Mrs. Cooney scarcely ever left its vicinity, and only once boarded a train, to go as far as Savona, a few miles away across the lake.

Mrs. Cooney was the daughter of Joseph Allard, a Hudson's Bay employee, and was born at Fort George in March, 1846. When she was 16 she saw some of the overlanders of 1862 pass through Fort George in 1862, en route from eastern Canada to the Cariboo goldfields on their long, hazardous trek. Her husband, Charles T. Cooney, an Irishman, came to British Columbia in 1859, and in the sixties drove pack trains of mules regularly between Yale, Quesnel and Kamloops.

In 1866, Mrs. Cooney joined her husband in Kamloops, and three years later they purchased land at the mouth of the Tranquille Creek, where they made one of the finest farms of the Kamloops district. In 1917 Mr. Cooney died and was buried in the old orchard at the farm home. Mrs. Cooney continued the ranch with much success, and subsequently the provincial government acquired the property as part of the estate of Tranquille Sanatorium, agreeing to her stipulation that she spend the rest of her life in the old ranch-house.

A woman of keen mind, Mrs. Cooney exemplified the old Chinese saw, "I live in a very small house, but I look out on a very wide world," for she followed the happenings of the world with interest by means of the radio. She leaves six children, 24 grandchildren and 36 great-grandchildren. The funeral was held Monday and she was laid to rest beside her husband in the shade of the old apple trees.

Wren' Chief Will Arrive This Week

WINNIPEG (CP)—Chief Officer Dorothy Isherwood of the Women's Royal Naval Service arrived in Winnipeg yesterday during a trans-Canada tour to recruit women for telegraphy and domestic work in the Royal Canadian Navy.

Miss Isherwood stated that a training depot is being completed at Galt, Ont., which will start operating late in September. "Wrens" are now serving in all branches of the British navy except the Fleet Air Arm, she stated, and are stationed in the Middle East, Gibraltar, and in Singapore. A few are operating small crafts in the harbors.

Chief Officer Isherwood will leave for Victoria and Vancouver by plane Wednesday.

Co-operative Homes For Girls Success

TORONTO (CP)—One of the greatest problems in Canada today is to find living quarters for large numbers of women who have come to cities to fill wartime positions. Mr. Laura Jamieson, C.C.F. member of the British Columbia Legislature for Vancouver Centre, said in an interview at the C.C.F. convention here last night.

"These girls need protection and guidance and help, as well as economical living quarters," she said.

Mrs. Jamieson told of the co-operative houses for young working girls which she organized in Vancouver—two of which now are in operation and a third in prospect. The houses were organized on the same basis as a students' co-operating boarding house, she said.

"The girls share in the expense of running it and the work of maintaining it and thereby acquire valuable experience in actual housekeeping," she said. "The girls buy shares in the house and the share capital will go towards acquiring additional houses."

Elks Auxiliary Aids Solarium

The Women's Auxiliary to the Elks Club of Victoria sent a representative committee to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, Mill Bay, last week, headed by Mrs. C. V. Milton, president, who presented a cheque for $250 to the Solarium officials for the endowment of a cot. After visiting some of the small patients, the members were entertained at tea by the staff.

and will later make their home in Victoria. The bride donned for traveling a fur-trimmed tweed coat over her wedding costume.

Dorothys and Marys Have Own Spitfire

The Dorothys and Marys of Canada can well be proud of their efforts of a year ago, for now they have a Spitfire of their own, named after them, playing a part in the fight for freedom.

In a recent letter from Lady Beatrice Marler, women's chairman for "Wings for Britain" to Mary Sieburth, chief Mary for Vancouver, she writes:

"The Dorothy Fund closed on May 1, 1941, with a sum in excess of $16,000. By July the Marys had raised nearly $7,000 for the engine, and the required sum was complete. The Marys of Victoria raised $252, Vancouver Island donations amounting to $382.25. The Vancouver Marys raised over a third of the sum for all Canada, and went on record as running a teless, lunchless drive, the money being raised by cultural, not culinary means and voluntary donations.

The Dorothy-Mary Spitfire carries two 20-m.m. cannon in addition to machine-guns, and is powered with a Rolls-Royce Merlin engine attaining a speed approaching 400 miles an hour. Reports on its activities will be made, states A. E. L. Mash, public relations officer, when the machine is attached to an operational squadron.

"You may be interested in hearing that to the end of June something over $750,000 has been sent to the Ministry of Aircraft Production, London, England, and there is on hand a further amount of about $35,000 which will be sent with the next installment. Money continues to come in in an extraordinary manner considering the immense taxes and the many calls on the private purse."

The Etherage Award for prose comedy went to Mrs. Gladys Wheeler Charles and her collaborator, Dr. George Savage, both of Seattle. Their play, "Hoe Corn, Dig Taters," was concerned with the functioning of the draft board in the Kentucky Hills. The drama was Mrs. Charles' first attempt at play writing. Dr. Savage, assistant professor of English at the University of Washington, has had 37 plays published.

Major Bullock-Webster assigned the Aldon Award for short plays to M. Greenwald of New York for "Going Home," a radio play about the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Smart R.C.A.F. Girls Keeping Fliers Up to Snuff

By MARGARET ECKER

FINGAL, Ont. (CP)—There are lots of jobs in the Royal Canadian Air Force that women can do better than men, and the women's division of the R.C.A.F. is proving that at this western Ontario bombing and gunnery school.

"The girls have done well every job they've tackled," Wing Cmdr. D. D. Findlay, the commanding officer, told the Canadian Press. "And not only that, but the very fact they're here seems to spur the men on to better work. The men have bucked up. They're more careful about their dress and language."

"They don't want to let these girls get ahead of them," he said. "Yes, I think the girls are a healthy influence—I'm all for them."

So her turned the reporter over to the women's senior officer, Section Officer Rowena Cantelon of Regina, for an object lesson in what he had been saying. S.O. Cantelon was a librarian before she enlisted. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Cantelon, live in Winnipeg.

IN PLOTTING ROOM

Corporal Sheila Strang, also from Winnipeg, was the guide, and the first part of call was the plotting room of the hangar, past a sign that said "Synchronize your watches." This is where the airmen gunners send readings of their bomb hits. As soon as they drop a bomb they make a reading and phone it to Airwoman Myrtle Shaughnessy, whose civilian home is in New Westminster, B.C.

Shaughnessy charts the reading on a practice bomb and plotting chart and figures out the gunner's accuracy score. Flying Officer Moore, who is there to supervise her work, explained the workings of a bomb sight and how most of the gunnery practice is over the lake. A.W.2 Evelyn Disley of Sudbury, Ont.,

Joint Recital Aids War Relief

About 100 music lovers attended the piano and voice recital given by Edgar Holloway, pianist, and David Oldham, baritone, at the home of Mrs. H. F. Hamersley, 1989 Crescent Road, Friday evening, and as a result $25.50 was raised for the Christian Science war relief fund.

Mr. Oldham opened the program with a group of songs by Handel and Schubert, followed by a group of Tchaikovsky numbers and Brahms' "Sapphic Ode," and in conclusion a group which included "Rolling Down to Rio" (German), "Sailorman" (Wolfe), and "Green-eyed Dragon" (Charles).

Mr. Holloway gave the singer admirable support at the piano and also appeared in the role of soloist. His numbers included a Chopin group of two nocturnes in G Major and C Minor; the "Scherzo" in B Flat Minor, followed by the waltz in C Sharp Minor. For his last group Mr. Holloway chose the Liszt arrangement of Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song," "Sous Bois," by Staub, the Brahms Rhapsodie in G Minor.

Miss Corbould, R.N., of the Esquimalt Rural Nursing Service, left yesterday for Prince Rupert to spend a vacation with her mother there.

Against Cutting War Savings

A letter to Reeve W. L. Woodhouse of the Oak Bay Council from Minister of Finance Tisley, urging that any inclination to reduce voluntary purchases of war savings stamps, certificates or bonds due to new taxes be firmly and aggressively countered, was read to members of the council Monday night.

The letter informed the council that a representative of a National War Finance Committee would be visiting employees of the municipality shortly and would answer any questions or give any desired information in connection with the new taxes being introduced and savings regulations.

"Let me emphasize," the letter stated, "that the new compulsory savings provision of the new budget does not in any way take the place of voluntary savings. Indeed, if the government is to find the money required, the level of the voluntary savings must not only be maintained, but must be increased."

The Finance Minister's letter told of immediate steps being taken to see that all employees were informed of this appeal. A letter from Margaret Beck with of the committee in charge of Oak Bay playgrounds was read, thanking members for their co-operation in the committee's work in providing children with places and equipment to use in recreational activities. An invitation was extended to the councillors to attend the numerous functions of the committee.

Slot Machines

The city council will hear a report from the police commission on the recent prosecution of slot machine operators, Mayor McGavin told the council Monday afternoon in reply to a question from Alderman Archie Willis.

The matter came up for discussion when Alderman B. J. Gadsden wanted to know why city police had not taken action immediately the mayor received a letter from the attorney-general giving the names of those operating the machines.

The mayor said the matter was one for the police commission, adding "the police commission is an independent body and doesn't sit here."

He explained he received the letter from the attorney-general at 11 a.m. Saturday, July 4, and handed it immediately over to the chief of police, telling him to look into it.

Alderman Gadsden wanted to know why action was left over the week-end. The mayor replied the police couldn't go to work on the matter on Sunday. Alderman Gadsden persisted and wanted to know why the machines weren't immediately confiscated and taken to the police station.

Alderman Willis wanted to know why it was necessary for the provincial police to lay the information.

"I don't know," the mayor said. "We have a city police force and that's their duty," Alderman Willis said.

The mayor said that as a general rule it is the duty of the attorney-general, if he knows the law is not being enforced, to inform the mayor and the police chief.

Beacon Hill's Stone Bridge To Be Closed to Vehicles

City Council Monday instructed the city solicitor to prepare the necessary by-law which will close the historic old stone bridge over Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park to all vehicular traffic.

This action was taken on recommendation of parks and boulevard committee after its chairman, Alderman Duncan McTavish, explained such action is necessary for the safety of the bridge and pedestrians.

At the present time the bridge is handling only one-way traffic. The same by-law will:

1. Limit the weight of vehicles on the park's interior roads to not more than 4,000 pounds, except where vehicles are on official business.
2. Prohibit cleaning of cars in public parks.
3. Prohibit soliciting and selling in public parks, particularly with reference to sidewalk photography.

The council passed a resolution moved by Alderman W. H. Davies, asking the city solicitor to ascertain the directors of War-time Housing Limited.

Aldermen expressed satisfaction with the full-page picture of Victoria in a recent edition of Look, showing a Seattle family on an outing to Victoria.

Alderman Willis asked if the council had seen the Victoria feature in the Montreal Standard, in which is shown a picture entitled "The Snobbery."

"That's right," commented Mayor McGavin. "There's a lot of that—there's plenty of that here."

Inquest Adjourned

A coroner's jury viewed the body of Peter Campbell, killed Friday night when the car in which he was a passenger plunged over the side of the Malahat, and then adjourned until next Monday at 3, in order that key witnesses might be present.

This preliminary to the inquest was held at Sands Mortuary under the direction of the coroner, Dr. E. C. Hart.

Composing the jury are: Tristram Willett, foreman; Aubrey K. Hughes, Stanley E. Strath, Stanley A. Brett, Robert P. Gay, Arnold Johnston and W. R. Thompson.

In contour farming, plowing is a continuous process; rounded strip ends do away with sharp turning, and with all work on the level there is no shifting of tractor gears.

Synthetic rubbers, which do not compare favorably with natural rubber in stretch and tensile strength, may nevertheless be excellent in resistance to abrasion, cracking, oxidation, heat, or the effects of light and chemicals.

serve for contingencies had been spent to June 30, Mr. Macdonald's report showed.

The fire department has spent only $71,346 of its estimated $188,472, leaving $117,126 for the rest of the year.

The council approved grants of $100 to Victoria Horticultural Society and $74 to Highland Games Association.

Approval was given for Miss Dolina MacKinnon of the city welfare office to take leave of absence for the war's duration to take a position with the British Purchasing Commission in Washington.

Council approved the park committee's recommendation that three cypress trees in the 900 block Heywood Avenue be cut down. Alderman John A. Worthington protested, saying the street is now attractive with big trees and that is what people like. He saw no reason to cut down trees just because a few residents objected. Alderman McTavish said the trees made the street dark and recalled a woman had been molested there not long ago.

A letter from W. T. McGibbon, 1268 McKenzie Street, protesting dilapidated city-owned houses in Penwill Street, was referred to the land and health committees.

"Why does not the city clean up their own mess before they compel citizens to do it?" asks Mr. McGibbon.

The council asked Alderman Gadsden to investigate possibility of establishment of a $500,000 machine tool plant in Victoria. As chairman of the business and trade committee, Alderman Gadsden will also inquire into the building of a foundry here.

Permission was given for purchase of a $3,243 bookkeeping and billing machine for use in the water department at the City Hall.

Land sales approved included the following: East side of Cook, between Haultain and Bay, $50; southeast corner Vancouver and Richardson, $400; east side Richmond, near Quamichan, $325; west side Moss, between Oxford and May, $500.

The council congratulated Alderman Worthington for his work as chairman of the citizens' committee which arranged Armv Week.

Permission was given by the council to Claude Cherer to assign his Thetis Park lease to Capt. Geo. R. Stewart at a rental of $500 a year.

The water board will investigate water main cleaning in Oak Bay, and, if satisfactory, will carry on work in Fairfield district in an effort to increase water pressure. City Engineer Irwin reported to council at least 3,650 feet of pipe in Fairfield needed cleaning.

The council decided, on motion of Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, to inform the federal government that other Pacific coast cities have received gas masks and that they are also needed in Victoria. Alderman Gadsden thought it was time to prepare gasproof rooms in private homes.

City School Board Oak Bay Pupils Must Pay $70

Having heard a delegation of Oak Bay school trustees who asked a special rate for Oak Bay pupils who, because of lack of transportation, attend city schools, the Victoria School Board, Monday, offered a fee of $70 for 10 or more students, but decided the regular rate of $75 would be charged for less than 10 students.

Trustees S. L. Wilson presented the case for Oak Bay. He said about six pupils between the ages of six and nine, who lived in the neighborhood known as Chinese Point, had been attending Margaret Jenkins School because there was no close-by Oak Bay school.

He said there was no question of over-crowding in Oak Bay schools, and asked an agreement for the duration of the war. The reason Oak Bay was asking Victoria, he said, was because no transportation was available now because of war restrictions.

Mr. Wilson suggested Victoria, if it were found convenient, arrange to send some Victoria students to Oak Bay schools in compensation for the Oak Bay students attending city schools.

F. G. Mulliner, chairman, said the Victoria School Board had been criticized for permitting Oak Bay students to attend city schools, and Trustee Austin Curtis said Victoria had educated some Oak Bay students from grades 1 to 8 without receiving compensation from Oak Bay.

H. L. Campbell, municipal school inspector, on the other hand, said he was not aware that any Victoria students had attended Oak Bay schools for any length of time. He said it was the custom to permit the child of parents who moved from an adjoining municipality to Victoria to remain at the municipal school only until the term had been completed.

COSTS CITY $75

Mrs. A. S. Christie, Victoria trustee, said she did not see how Victoria could be expected to charge less than $75 a year for the Oak Bay students when it was costing Victoria taxpayers $75 per pupil per year to educate Victoria students.

"If we did offer less," she said, "I think we would be subject to criticism for spending the taxpayers' money on Oak Bay students."

She said Oak Bay should be willing to pay the $75 per student per year because the city had in the past educated some Oak Bay students for nothing.

The board said it would be happy to have the Oak Bay students attend Victoria schools if they were willing to pay the fee. Other students from outside the city have to pay $75 per year.

Collections Less in 1942

City of Victoria still has to collect $1,082,812 of its estimated $2,225,752 revenue for 1942, mayor and aldermen were advised at their meeting Monday by City Comptroller D. A. Macdonald in his report for the first six months of this year.

To June 30 the city collected $1,142,939, compared with $1,183,216 to the same period in 1941.

Arrears of taxes collected in the first six months of 1942 amounted to $82,713, compared with $108,467 to the same date of 1941. This leaves $114,286 to be collected this year.

Sales of reverted properties show a big drop—from $74,919 in the first six months of 1941 to $37,810 for the same period this year.

In the first half of the year the city spent $1,462,555 of its $2,506,688 estimated expenditures for 1942.

From Jan. 1 to June 30, $18,228 of the estimated $40,000 had been spent on unemployment relief, leaving $21,771 still available.

the letter the attorney-general sent to the mayor.

"I have a copy," he said.

"Where did you get it?" the mayor asked.

"I got it through sources I'm not at liberty to divulge," the alderman replied.

Mayor McGavin: "You didn't get it from the city hall."

Alderman Gadsden: "No."

The mayor: "Then I'm satisfied you got it from the attorney-general."

THAT 26 to 16 victory of the All-Stars over the Services in Saturday's box lacrosse exhibition resulted in our taking a severe ribbing from rotund Ted Menzies, coach of the James Bay Douglas Tire crew. "Where's that great Services team all you fellows have been doing so much writing about?" When we tried to pass it off as just one of those things, Menzies fired back: "Yes, and we'll step out and whip that club any night in the week. And another thing. Don't forget our team is composed of all local boys and is not gathered from all over Canada." Well, Ted, guess we have to admit you did it once, but our money would still go to that Services club in a series. The team packs class that cannot be denied.

Our box lacrosse scribe "Red" tells us this youngster Bill (Duff) McCaghey is as smooth a lacrosse player as ever handled a stick in these parts. We are told he has everything to make him the top of the youngsters, eats, sleeps and literally lives lacrosse. He is the last off the floor at practice and when not playing, talks nothing else but lacrosse. His performance against the Services Saturday, when he scored five goals and gave three assists, pretty well speaks for itself.

Memories of some pleasant and fruitful fishing trips are revived by the reception of the annual booklet of the Cowichan Bay Coho Fly Fishing Club. Fresh off the press, the pamphlet gives details for the coming season, Sept. 1 to Nov. 30. In our opinion this fishing is the finest offered on the island, giving the angler some great sport using light tackle. Evidence of its growing popularity is seen by the increasing number of fishermen taking advantage of the Cowichan Bay fishing grounds every fall. At one time only a few went to the Bay, but now it is nothing to see a couple of hundred boats from the Flats to Cherry Point during the height of the coho season.

Accompanying the club folder was a note from R. Dopping-Heppenstall, president, in which he writes:

"Our club is out to get every amateur angler 'busy' fishing for food production. It is not generally realized how much meat can be saved by eating salmon. For instance, last September over four tons of spring and coho salmon were landed at Cowichan Bay in one week by amateur fishermen. Just think, 8,000 pounds of fish."

We have never seen a left-handed catcher in baseball but there have been some. Just came across the information that the last left-handed catcher in the major leagues was Joe Wall who backstopped for the New York Giants in 1902. Five left-handed shortstops, and two left-handed third basemen have played in the majors.

Pitzer - Nex Win Baseball

Flock of Base Hits

Featured by a six-run rally in the seventh, Pitzer and Nex smacked 16 base knocks, including five for extra bases, to defeat the Army 9 to 5 in Monday night's senior ball game. Victory strengthened the gamblers' hold on third position while the Army dropped to within only half a game above the fifth-place Eagles.

Outside of shortstop Murray and pitcher Nicol every member of Pitzer and Nex got himself a hit, while centre-fielder Harry Barber paced the procession with four for five. Outfielder Jack Stratton continued his heavy clubbing of last Saturday night by picking off three for six, two of them doubles.

After moving into a one-run lead, 2 to 1, in the third frame, Pitzer and Nex were never headed. They got a single in the fifth, and closed their scoring with those six in the seventh. The Army sneaked home a lone run in the first inning and added doubles in the seventh and ninth.

NICOL HURLS
Southpaw Ritchie Nicol handled the pitching chores for Pitzer and Nex and gave up nine hits, while striking out four and walking three. Jerry Whitney worked the first seven and one-third innings for the Army and gave up 14 hits and nine runs during his trial. He was replaced in the seventh by Lloyd Cann, who held Pitzer and Nex scoreless while being nicked for two safeties.

Game was highlighted by a couple of smart one-handed catches by Barber and a nice spear by Janitos in right field for the Army. Murray, Pitzer and Nex shortstop, suffered a cut over the left eye when a ground ball

Norvans Play Boxla Saturday

It probably won't heal Wallace's pride, but Chief Andy Paul, Vancouver lacrosse sachem, will bring his Norvans over here this Saturday to do battle with Victoria and hope at least to heal the pride of Vancouver in general. Game time is 8.30.

When Wallaces, last year's runners-up for the Canadian lacrosse championship, came here two weeks ago, a Victoria all-star crew jumped on them solidly and sent them home smarting under a 23 to 18 defeat.

Andy, who led the North Shore Indians in their heyday, now manages the entry from the North Shore Shipyards, a group of talented palefaces who made an unostentatious start, but are burning up the Vancouver League now that they have found themselves. They have plucked Wallace into the league basement, climbed into third place and are traveling fast to the top.

TONIGHT'S SHOW

Playing their second game since amalgamating two weeks ago, Bays-Douglas Tire will go up against Jokers in tonight's feature at the Sports Centre.

The two teams in one are at present tied for top place with United Services and would like a win to put themselves in a class all their own again. Right now it's a race for a play-off berth with the season closing in less than a month, and if Jokers don't win tonight it won't enhance their chances any of getting in the play-downs next month. Game time is 8.30.

Two prelims are scheduled with V.M.D. and Fletcher's playing at 6, and Young Jokers and Young Bays playing at 7.

Bays-Douglas Tire line-up follows:

Long, Costello, McFadden, T. McKeachie, Cullin, Ball, Hetherington, Davey, Bryant, Barr, Stevens, Travis, Ovcharick, Perry and Robbins.

City Golf Tourney At Uplands Links

Qualifying round of the annual men's city golf championship will be played over the links of the Uplands Club, Aug. 8. It will be 18 holes medal with the low 16 scorers qualifying for the title flight.

Opening rounds of match play must be completed on or before Aug. 15 and the second rounds will be run off on Aug. 16. During the week ending Aug. 22 the semifinals will be held and the last two survivors will clash on Aug. 23 over 36 holes for the crown.

Jim Squire, last year's winner, is expected to be on deck to defend his title. Entries must be in the hands of secretary J. C. Beveridge of the Uplands Club by Friday, Aug. 7. The last two years the tournament has been 36 holes medal play on successive Sundays, but officials of the Victoria Golf Committee have decided to revert to the old system as they figure it the best way of naming a champion.

Win Tennis Titles

New singles champions of the Hillcrest Tennis Club are Norman McConnell and Mrs. B. Keyes. In finals over the week-end McConnell defeated K. Elliott in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, while Mrs. Keyes won from Mrs. H. Parkinson 6-3, 1-6, 6-2.

McConnell teamed with Ralph Butler to defeat L. Batchelor and A. Lockley in the men's doubles final, 6-0, 6-3.

In the absence of President D. Warder, Reeve Lockley presented the prizes.

The mixed doubles final between Miss L. Northam and R. Butler and Mrs. L. Foote and McConnell will be played Wednesday at 6.30, following which a bridge and court whist party will be held in the clubhouse to which all former members and friends of the club are invited.

Lawn Bowling

Lawn bowlers will open play Wednesday afternoon at the Burnside Club in the Walter Cross Victory Cup competition. It is an event for mixed doubles. Play will start at 2.15.

Sox Good Second Placers

Always a bridesmaid, but never a bride seems to describe the destiny of Boston Red Sox.

They tremble and falter every time they are led to the first-place altar of the American League, but they are as full of fury as a woman scorned whenever their rights to second place are encroached upon.

Monday second place was at stake as they opened a four-game series with Cleveland Indians. The foes were deadlocked in game-one-and-lost reckoning, but the Sox had an edge in percentage, 558 to 556.

The Bostonians approached the fray with more seriousness than they showed when they had a chance to wrest the lead from the New York Yankees a few weeks ago.

Manager Joe Cronin shook up his batting order, moving Ted Williams to the third spot and installing himself in the clean-up slot. He opened with his ace pitcher, Cecil (Tex) Hughson, the tall right-hander who had won 10 and lost three.

These manoeuvres didn't seem to have much bearing on the game, because Cronin didn't get a hit in five times at bat and Hughson was belted for an even dozen safeties by the tribal war clubs, but nevertheless Boston won the ball game 8 to 5.

The Red Sox made 11 hits, two of them triples, three of them doubles and all of them timely. They never made a hit in an inning without scoring.

This was the only game in the major leagues that escaped the weatherman. As a result three doubleheaders are scheduled for the National League today, with attention centred on St. Louis Cardinals' invasion of Brooklyn.

Sport Shorts From Britain

LONDON (CP)—That hard-hitting Montreal negro, Cpl. Arnold Hayes, Canadian Army Overseas heavyweight champion, easily outpointed giant George Davis of Banskbury in an eight-round bout at Wolverhampton. It was one of Hayes' first appearances since he was defeated in the British army championships at York last March.

On the same card, Peter Kane, launched on a campaign to regain recognition once more as world's premier flyweight, gained his second success in three days by outpointing Sammy Reynolds of Wolverhampton in another eight-rounder. Reynolds was deputizing for Eddie Petrin of Montreal, former Canadian bantam king. Kane previously outpointed Norman Lewis, a Welsh contender.

Here's something far more uncommon than a hole in one or an eight-end: A 525-year greyhound race in London resulted in a triple dead heat for first place.

LUCKY YOUNGSTER

Eleven-year-old Willie Squabbe went walking on the Salisbury race course, missed the first two races but saw quite a bit of the third—too much for his own good.

Wee Willie discovered he was in a mix-up with 12 horses battling in the Upavon handicap and here's how Arch Burns, one of the jockeys, described it: "He was knocked down by one horse, onto another, and banged about like a football. He ought to have been killed but through a miracle he wasn't."

Police and an ambulance rushed to the scene but examination disclosed William was more frightened than hurt.

Wright Vs. Constantino

NEW YORK (AP)—Champion Chalky Wright and Lulu Constantino of New York Monday were signed by promoter Mike Jacobs for a 15-round featherweight title bout Sept. 25.

Constantino earned the shot at Wright's New York-recognized title by outpointing Pedro Hernandez in the Garden last Thursday. Wright and Hernandez are the only two fighters who hold a decision over the New Yorker in his 62 professional bouts.

At the same time, Jacobs announced a 12-round fight between Tami Mauriello and Lee Savold, Oct. 30.

BURRARDS INCREASE LEAD

VANCOUVER (CP)—Burwards increased their lead at the top of the Inter-city Box Lacrosse League when they defeated Wallace 12 to 6 here Monday night.

Clarence Jenion of Wallace was high man of the night with three goals.

UPLANDS MEDAL

Some of the finest scores of the season were turned in Sunday for the men's medal round at the Uplands Golf Club. Fred Switzer was the winner with a net 61. J. G. Chanter, Fred Smith and R. Watson tied for runner-up with 65s.

Has Subpar 67 To Crush Clay Heafner

CHICAGO (AP)—Byron Nelson, one of the greatest of modern linksmen, was homework bound today with $2,500 in his hip pocket, once again having demonstrated that when the big money is on the line he virtually is unbeatable.

The demonstration came as the grand finale to that golfing circus known as the Tam O'Shanter $15,000 open tournament.

Monday Nelson crushed big Clayton Heafner of Durham, N.C., by four strokes in their 18-hole playoff for the championship of the dizziest of all golf events. The pair had tied at the end of the regular 72 holes, with totals of 280.

As though to atone for his unaccountable lapse of the previous day, when he soared to an inglorious 77 on the fourth round, the ex-Texan took Tam O'Shanter's soggy acres apart with a 67—five under par—to send Heafner down for the count.

Not that Heafner weakened. The big fellow stayed in there gamely all the way to score his 71.

GREAT SCORING

Aside from his own terrible round, Nelson shot these scores at Tam O'Shanter: 67-71-65-67-270.

Monday Nelson was out in 33, back in 34. He was down to Heafner only once during the playoff. Two up at the turn, he was converting it into a rout toward the close.

Probably the match was decided as early as the fifth hole, where Nelson, already one up, blasted into the hole from about 35 feet for an eagle two to beat Heafner's birdie three. After that experience Heafner must have realized it was no use.

Chief Thunderbird After Win Saturday

According to Alderman Billy Davies, promoter of the wrestling matches at the Athletic Park, Saturday evening, featuring Chief Thunderbird in the main event, the Saanich wrestler is entitled to be credited as being capable of giving any and all aspirants for that honor a close run for their money.

He is without question one of the most featured artists anywhere in the "grunt and groan" game, and has suffered more casualties than any other performer in the art.

His main-event appearances in Australia, New Zealand, Honolulu, New York and other important sport centres has gained great publicity for Vancouver Island. The services of Chief Thunderbird are still in demand, his next two engagements including a tour of South America. He is anxious to reverse the decision the former All-American football star, George Kitzmiller, gained over him, when the Chief broke his arm in a bout here in Victoria two years ago.

Located in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, the island of Anticosti is two and one-half times the size of the state of Rhode Island, and has been privately owned for 260 years.

BEL AIR, Md. (AP)—A daily double payoff of $1,381.40 for $2 stake most of the thunder at Bel Air Monday.

Mrs. V. T. Carter's Vale Victory, paying $31.50, scored in the first race, and L. T. Davis' Certain Party, returning $66.40 to win, won the second to account for the big double.

Halifax Gets Gridders

Blasting in 11 runs in the last three innings, St. Louis College knocked over Palm Dairies, 16 to 6, Monday night to win their second straight playoff game and with it the C section softball championship.

It was a pitching duel between College's Danny O'Connell and the Dairies' Joe Bryant, with all going well until the sixth, when the Collegians sighted their heavy guns and knocked Joe's offerings to every corner of the lot.

In women's division games, K. of P. Sidney, whipped Unities, 24 to 9, and Adverts easily downed H.B.C., 21 to 9.

At Athletic Park tonight, Barons and Esquimalt Military Hospital play the second game of the A division semifinals, winner to meet the Navy. Game time is 6.45. At Victoria West Park, Douglas Tire and V.M.D. will meet in the second game of their play-off for the B section title.

On Sunday, Northwestern Creamery traveled to Ladysmith, breaking even in a doubleheader with Travelers' Hotel. They dropped the opener, 11 to 7, but won the evening tilt, 2 to 0.

Dorothy Dix: Many Wives are Jealous Of Husbands' Relatives

MANY WIVES

Dear Miss Dix: I am a young man of 23, married, and love my wife very much. We get along fine except she is insanely jealous over my mother and father, and altogether without reason. She accuses me of having secrets with them, which I have not, and of giving them money, when I have not given them a penny since I have been married. All that I want to give my parents is the love and the little attentions they deserve.

I love my mother and father, but love my wife best of all and put her first not only in love, but in everything else. Is there any way in which I can make my wife see that my relationship to my parents is simply that of a good son, and it does not in any way conflict with my relationship to her?

JIM.

Answer: If anyone has ever found a cure for jealousy, I have never heard of it. One would think that the best way to deal with it would be to make the afflicted ones see how silly and unreasonable their suspicions are, but unfortunately those who are green-eyed have lost the power to see anything straight, and they are not amenable to reason. So there you are.

You can swear by all your gods to your wife that you love her better than you do your mother and father; tell her the fact that you left them to live with her should be sufficient proof that you prefer her to them. You can turn over every cent you make to her so that she can know herself that you are not giving any money to your father and mother. You can try to make her see how foolish it is for her to imagine that you and your parents have any secrets that you keep from her. But it will be all in vain. She will go right back to her original grievance, which she manufactured out of whole cloth, and resume her favorite diversion, which is torturing the one she pretends to love.

MANY WIVES ARE JEALOUS

It is a common thing for wives to be jealous of their husbands' people, and especially of their husbands' mothers. They cannot bear to think that their husbands had any life in which they (the wives) did not have a part. Nor that their husbands have any affection for anyone but them. They don't stop to consider what sort of a poor ingrate a man would be who would cease to love the mother who bore him, and the father who had toiled to support him and educate him and give him a start in the world, and the brothers and sisters with whom he has grown up, just because he got married.

In their jealousy they ignore the fact that a man who had that little family loyalty would just as lightly break his marriage ties when some more attractive woman came along.

Women seem especially resentful of their husbands' helping their own families when they are in need, though they do not hesitate to saddle their husbands with their own families, and think that John is mean and stingy when he objects to paying their brothers out of scrapes and having their mothers and fathers come to live with them.

Every woman knows that the love a man gives his family and the love he gives his wife are two different emotions that do not clash in any way, but that does not prevent wives from being more jealous of their husbands' affection for their families than they are of any siren. And there is nothing that the husband can do about it except to bear it with what patience he can, or get up and leave.

Although I can't offer you, Jim, any recipe for curing your wife of her jealousy of your parents, I do urge you not to let it separate you from them. Don't give up the unselfish love of your father and mother to please a self-centered, utterly selfish wife.

WHAT IS A PROPOSAL?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Would you consider "I love you" or "I can't live without you" a proposal? If not, what would you consider one?

PEG.

ANSWER: Gracious, no. Far from it. Nothing that a man says to a woman in the sentimental line is to be considered a proposal unless it is coupled with a genuine bona fide offer of marriage and a request for her to name the wedding day. All the balance is mere conversation with which to pass a pleasant hour, and the man understands that the girl will take it as such. When a boy tells a girl that he loves her, or that he cannot live without her, or that she is the one he has been searching for all of his life, and where has she been that he has never met her before, it doesn't mean a thing in the world except that he is trying to make himself agreeable. He's handling her line. For there is a tradition among men that all women want to be made love to, and that all that any man has to do to be a fascinator is just to dish out the soft talk.

And that isn't such a bad guess either, for girls are so hungry for flattery that they gobble up all the mushy stuff that is offered them without stopping to see whether it is a good old reliable brand, or some sort of a fake imitation that will give them an awful headache if they swallow it.

I am always getting letters from girls who write me that they know that boys are in love with them because they have dated them three times and kissed them goodnight. Or that they know that boys are in love with them, though they have never mentioned it, because they can read it in their eyes. Or that they know boys are in love with them because they have been going "steady" with them for years and years. And they feel that it is only shyness that keeps them from proposing. To which I say: Tut and nonsense. Forget it. No man was ever yet so bashful that he didn't ask for the thing he wanted, and when he really desires a girl he ups and pops the question.

So when a boy tells you that he

Performing Pony Pleased Crowds in Old England

When Queen Elizabeth sat on the throne of England there was a pony in the country which performed tricks. The pony went by the name of Morocco.

The owner of the pony was a Scotsman named Banks, and he earned his living by showing what his animal could do. It performed in London and in several other English cities, and in various villages. A booklet was written about it, and described it as "a young nag of chestnut or bay color."

Morocco could stand up and leap around on his hind legs. We also are told that he could "dance."

The poet Shakespeare was living at that time, and in one of his plays spoke of "the dancing horse." It is believed that he meant Banks' pony.

When a show was being given, Banks would toss a glove on the ground, and would say, "Take this to the lady who wears a green mantle," or "Give this to the gentleman in the large ruff." Sure enough the pony would pick up the glove with his teeth and would carry it to the proper person.

If coins were placed in the glove, Morocco would tell their number by tapping on the ground with one of his front feet. In the same way he told the numbers on dice which were dropped on the ground.

It may be that Banks gave signals to his pet. In any case the training was good, and people looked on with open mouths.

In 1596 the owner took Morocco to Scotland, and showed him to the public. People stared, the same as in London, and some of them said, "This beast must have a spirit in it!"

That gave Banks an idea. Going across the English Channel with Morocco, he held performances in France. He told the French that the pony was really a "spirit."

The idea added to the size of the crowds, but it came near to bringing an end to both the animal and the master. In those days there was a wide-spread belief in witchcraft, and a cry was raised against the performing pony.

At that point Banks proved what a clever fellow he was. He trained Morocco to bow in front of a cross. When the French saw the honor given to the Christian symbol they decided that the pony must be good, not evil.

All-Sooke Day On Tomorrow

Lieut.-Col. S. C. Clegg, officer commanding the Dufferin and Haldimand Regiment, will open the ninth All Sooke Day at Sooke Flats tomorrow afternoon at 2.

The program has been restricted this year and it is not expected that the usual crowd of 5,000 will attend. However, the Sooke Community Association hopes many residents of the district will attend and some Victorians will make the journey there.

The band of the Dufferin and Haldimand Regiment will be in attendance.

The program will include a variety of land events.

There will be a salmon barbecue, fish chowder, tombola and many games.

At night a dance will be held in the Sooke Community Hall.

2 Police Officers Leave City Force

Constable Bone, a native son of Victoria and member of the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association, has taken over Claude Belcher's newsstand and tobacco store. An excellent swimmer, diver and sprinter, he won many events in competition with other police forces of the Pacific Northwest. He was on the force 13 years.

Constable Elliott, who joined the force Dec. 30, 1940, left two days ago to enlist in the navy as a seaman. He had followed the sea eight years prior to joining the police department.

He was well known in local golf circles, playing regularly at the Gorge Vale and Uplands clubs.

The Victoria British-Israel Association will hold a prayer service at First Baptist Church at 8 tonight.

Mar. Identifies Slain Woman as Wife

VANCOUVER (CP)—The body of a woman whom police said had apparently been strangled in a downtown hotel room late Monday was identified today by David Sloan, Vancouver, as that of his wife, Mrs. Elea Sloan, 42.

Mr. Sloan had read of the slaying in newspaper reports and published pictures of a little mongrel dog which his wife had with her and which was found in the room led to the identification at the city morgue.

City police this afternoon continued the search for two men sought for questioning in the case.

MEIGHEN EXPECTED TO CONTINUE LEAD

OTTAWA (CP)—Conservative circles here today said any statement by Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen will agree to continue as national Conservative leader is premature.

It is known Mr. Meighen so far has not conveyed to the Conservative members here what his wishes are in respect to the party leadership, but he is expected to do so in a day or so.

Hon. R. B. Hanson will continue as House leader of the party, at least for the time being.

While one Conservative said he understood Mr. Meighen would continue as national leader, another source said "You may expect some important announcement in a few days," and the inference he left was Mr. Meighen might ask to be relieved.

It is expected that some time before adjournment of Parliament Mr. Meighen will meet prominent Conservatives here and lay plans for the future.

Mr. Meighen, in Toronto, today declined to make any statement on reports that he will bow to the requests of the party and continue as its leader, but a statement may be expected after the meeting here.

Mr. Meighen resigned from the Senate early this year to contest unsuccessfully a February by-election in the Ontario riding of South York.

Sailor Gets Year For Stealing Car

Found guilty of stealing a car which belonged to Mrs. Winnifred Pearce, Officers' Steward Lloyd E. Badger was sentenced to one year in jail when he appeared before Judge H. H. Shandley in County Court today.

Badger, according to his evidence, was in the car when it crashed through a fence and into a house at 570 Simcoe Street. His hat was found in the car, but he said he was not the driver of the car.

The car was stolen from Hill's parking lot, View Street. Badger said he was walking to barracks when he was picked up by a fellow called Neil. Being under the influence of liquor, he went to sleep in the car, only waking up when the car crashed.

Judge Shandley said Badger's story did not sound reasonable because no one had seen this fellow called Neil. Only one door of the car was found open.

Carew Martin appeared for the crown. A. Baker represented the accused.

Hamburg Casualties

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—Official quarters said today 99 persons are known dead and others still are missing in Hamburg after the British bombing raid Sunday night. The number of injured is said to be large.

Profiteers Whipped

CAIRO (AP)—Eight profiteers, convicted under a new law, were whipped in Alexandria today. Each received from 10 to 20 lashes across the back, then was taken to a hospital.

The lash, made of 10 thongs of leather and rope, previously was used on soldiers and policemen convicted of serious offences under military law. The statutes were revised to include violation of price ceilings.

Big Cannery Destroyed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Word was received here today that the modern $100,000 cannery plant of the Canadian Fishing Company Ltd. at Lagoon Bay, Queen Charlotte Islands, was almost totally destroyed by fire Sunday last.

The plant, presently idle and under care of a watchman, was to open August. A four-line cannery, it was capable of canning 3,000 cases of salmon per day.

Young Musicians Delight Audience

Music critics say that Victorians can be justly proud of these four energetic and ambitious young students who now prize the memory of their first step on the long and difficult path leading to distinction. Last week they presented an outstanding program for students of the Summer School at Victoria High School.

The girls' team is the youngest in Victoria's musical history to venture into such difficult works as the first and second movements of the Bach A Minor Concerto. Joy Berman, 15, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. D. Berman, 65 Moss Street, and Mary Paterson, 13, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Paterson, 1332 Carnes Street. Mervin Cummings is a very conscientious student who worked in the hop fields to earn the $5 with which he bought his first violin. He taught himself until he was 14. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Cummings, Earle Street.

Eddie Hulford, who accompanies Cummings, has made fine progress on the piano and has appeared in a number of recitals here. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hulford, 839 Pandora Avenue.

More Extras Wanted For Commando Film

More Victorians will be given the opportunity very shortly to prove their dramatic talent before the movie camera as production of "The Commandos Come at Dawn" proceeds here.

The announcement that additional extras would be required for shots ashore was made this morning as the Lester Cowan Production Company left the Empress Hotel in a fleet of cars for Patricia Bay for "the blowing up of a lot of things."

The film director, Lieut.-Cmdr. John Farrow, marshaled his players for an early start today. After tumbling out of bed and eating a hasty breakfast, Paul Muni, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Lillian Gish and feature bit actors, cameramen, sound experts and technicians, were whisked 20 miles to an improvised Nazi airfield.

"There will be plenty of excitement," they chorused as the cars pulled out, "we are going to blow up some barracks and it should be a good shot."

The set represents an enemy air base in Norwegian territory.

EXTRAS GET THRILL

Fifteen Victoria extras, costumed and made up as Norwegian refugees rescued by the commandos raiding a fishing village perched on the steep sides of a Norse fjord, took part in Monday's shooting. They were Marguerite Elliot, 1376 Begbie Street, Rona Murray, Kildon, Saanich; Louise Hannigan, Mrs. Wood Lodge, Cook Street; Mrs. William Brace, 2518 Cavendish Ave.; Mrs. Frank Crofton, 930 McClure Street; Mrs. M. C. Fraser, 154 South Turner Street; Miss Frances Briggs, 154 South Turner Street; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Turner, 369 Belleville Street; William Brace, 1518 Cavendish Ave.; J. H. Taber, 66 Pine Street; J. F. Gibney, 588 Toronto Street; Maj. Basil Currie, Victoria Y.M.C.A.; F. Failes, former National Park guide; C. C. Wilson, Tyndall Ave., Saanich; and George Green, 2645 Fernwood Road.

In addition to these local residents, personnel of the Royal Rifles of Canada, the 2nd Battalion Canadian Scottish and the Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury Regiment, disembarked from a warship loaned by the Royal Canadian Navy.

The shooting Monday completed the scenes aloft.

Members of the crew and a number of the warship's officers appeared in the shots. The ship's captain, who has been at sea 29 years and was never before in a movie camera shot, paired off in several scenes with Sir Cedric Hardwicke, taking the role of a British rear-admiral.

CAPTAIN GOOD ACTOR

"He proved to be one of the most natural dramatic actors any director would want," one of the company commented on the work of the Canadian captain.

Very shortly the company will go on location at the Norwegian fishing village which has been constructed on Finlayson Arm, Saanich Inlet, considered typical of the Norwegian fjords.

Miss Anna Lee, who will take the feature "Feminine" lead in "The Commandos Come at Dawn" is expected in the city momentarily. She will play opposite Paul Muni, who depicts the part of a Norwegian patriot.

Miss Lee is an English actress, last featured in "How Green Was My Valley."

The actors in the Cowan film have very little leisure while on location here.

Invariably, they are away from the hotel by 8 in the morning and do not return before 7 or 8 in the evening. Lunch is sent out to the company in charge of a hotel chef.

Two More Actors Here for Film

Two prominent Hollywood actors arrived in town today on the Seattle boat to play parts in the film "The Commandos Come at Dawn." They are Alexander Knox, who appeared in the films "This Above All" and "The Sea Wolf," and Philip Van Zandt, who played in "Wake Island."

Saanich Students Pay $50 Annually

To assist the Saanich School Board and children living in the Richmond Road area, the Victoria School Board announced today it had offered to enter an agreement to admit 60 Saanich elementary school pupils to Victoria schools at a compromise rate of $50 a pupil annually.

The offer will affect principally those pupils who formerly attended the Provincial Model School which has been closed.

Victoria school trustees felt the city should assist the Saanich board, which is faced with having to build a new school in the Mount Tolmie, Shelbourne Street area, just outside the city boundary. The Cedar Hill School is too remote from the area and accommodation is already taxed.

The school board said it was to the advantage of the Victoria taxpayer to grant a special rate in this case in view of the comparatively large number of pupils concerned, and that overhead expenses such as heat, light and janitorial service, remain constant regardless of the number of children attending the school.

Many of these pupils can be absorbed in existing classes without additions to the staff, the board said because attendance has been falling off slightly.

Nine motorists were fined $250 each in police court today when they pleaded guilty to parking infractions. Two were fined $5 each, one for going through a red light and the other for not halting at a stop sign.

H. de Kauffmann Here

Danes Confident Of Liberation

"Victory of the United Nations," says Henrik de Kauffmann, Danish Minister to the U.S.A., "means the liberation of Denmark and the Danish people live in hope and earnestly pray for that victory."

Mr. de Kauffmann was appointed in 1939 and is still the official representative of his country at Washington, D.C. He arrived here this morning to speak before the Canadian and Kiwanis clubs on Denmark since the German Occupation.

When Mr. de Kauffmann, on April 9, 1941, exactly one year after the occupation of Denmark, signed the agreement with the U.S. government for the establishment of strategic bases in Greenland to guarantee the protection of the western hemisphere, Hitler called for his dismissal by the Nazi-dominated government at Copenhagen. He refused to accept dismissal and was recognized by the U.S. government as the accredited diplomatic representative of Denmark.

NOT FREE AGENT

"I considered the Danish government is not a free agent and that it was my duty to carry on as before the occupation," said Mr. de Kauffmann. "I find that I have more work to do now for there are quite a number of problems and Greenland is one of them."

Cryolite, a sodium-aluminum fluoride used extensively in the making of aluminum, most valuable in war production, is mined in Greenland and is its chief export.

"I am doing everything in my power to speed up the production of cryolite," said Mr. de Kauffmann, adding that all sales of the mineral now go to Canada and the United States.

A polished diplomat, Mr. de Kauffmann has served his country in many world capitals. In 1921 he was Danish minister to Rome, was minister to China from 1924 to 1932, was transferred to Norway in 1939 and went to Washington shortly before the outbreak of the war.

KNOWS KEENLEYSIDE

He is a close friend of Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, former first secretary at the Canadian Legation at Tokyo.

"We used to go sailing together in the Orient," remarked the minister.

When minister to China, Mr. de Kauffmann used to go to Europe on furlough via Canada and it was then that he got to know and like this country. In recent months the Danish minister has paid frequent visits to Ottawa in connection with Greenland matters.

This afternoon, following his luncheon engagement here, Mr. de Kauffmann, who is accompanied by his wife, proceeded by air to Vancouver, where tonight

R.A.F. Bombs Burma

NEW DELHI (CP)—The R.A.F. announced today raids by its Blenheim bombers on Akyab, Mandalay, Thazi and Myintinge in Japanese-occupied Burma.

A Japanese communiqué said fires were set along the main line of the railway and in engine sheds and sidings at Thazi, 75 miles south of Mandalay; a direct hit was scored on railway workshops at Myintinge, 15 miles southeast of Mandalay; and rail yards and river barges were hit at Mandalay.

The central dock area was the main target of the Akyab raid.

Lubricants on the propeller shaft of a torpedo must not wash off in salt water, or deteriorate during the long period when the "tin fish" may lie idle before launching.

he is scheduled to address Canadians of Scandinavian descent.

Tells Teachers Air Raid Duties

The duties and responsibilities of school teachers in the event of an air raid were explained to Summer School students today at Victoria High School by Corporal D. W. Taylor, A.R.P. head of the Provincial Police.

Speaking on "Knowing What to Do, and How," Cpl. Taylor impressed the importance of thorough training for the students, and told the teachers it was their responsibility to see that they received this.

"Your hardest job will be to keep the children from becoming panic-stricken," he said. "You must not let one of them get over-excited or it will start them all becoming out of hand."

In telling of the precautions necessary in schools, both large and small, he urged that students be trained intensively in fire drills and air raid practices. All students should be taught to follow instructions automatically, he added. Suggesting that in time of raids the students take cover under their desks or tables, Cpl. Taylor said that more people have been killed by flying glass in England than by bombs.

DESKS SAVE LIVES

"Desks have saved more school children in England than all the air raid shelters combined," he asserted.

"In the event of a raid, everyone becomes scared," he continued, "even you will. It is natural. But what you must do is keep cool, and don't ever let the children see that you yourself are frightened. If you do, they will lose all faith in your guidance, and follow their animal instincts blindly."

The speaker said that there was no such thing as an absolute bomb proof shelter, and added that even concrete shelters are much more dangerous than most people realize. By means of illustrations he described how flying pieces of rock and concrete caused deaths and injuries.

He suggested that schools have senior leaders to care for groups of 8 to 10 students, and to hold those leaders responsible for the safety of the group under his or her care.

YORK THEATRE

A collection of surgical instruments which came around the Horn to California in the 1830's made its film debut in Edward Small's "The Corsican Brothers," which is currently at the York Theatre. The set was used in a 19th Century scene for a delicate operation.

The set was made in Sheffield, England, in 1810, according to figures stamped in the steel, and an inscription on the case indicates the instruments were originally the property of a ship's surgeon on the clipper "Arcturion."

The set has been traced back through various California owners to around 1840.

Because lighted cabins would fog their vision and betray them to the enemy, warplane pilots must fly at night with their cockpits in total darkness.

Shrine Circus Tickets Go on Sale

It isn't a circus without elephants, and Polack Bros. Circus, which opens a four-day engagement at the Ice arena Wednesday to Saturday, Aug. 5-8, under the auspices of Cizeh Shrine Band, is no exception. Mona and Mary Ann are twin-baby performing elephants which will be put through their paces by their charming trainers, Misses Avis Peaster and Gwen Carsey. In addition there will be performing chimpanzees, horses, trapeze stars, acrobats and clowns in a new outstanding show for the benefit of the Solarium. Reserved seats go on sale Thursday morning at Terry's Drug Store.

HEDY LAMARR IN NEW ROLE

Directed by King Vidor, with Hedy Lamarr, Robert Young and Ruth Hussey offering topnotch portrayals, M-G-M's filmization of "H. M. Pulham, Esq." will open at the Atlas Theatre tomorrow.

The picture faithfully follows the story of the young Bostonian who seeks to escape the mould of tradition in which he is cast, finds the one great love of his life, then is forced back to the conventions of his class. He marries the woman his family had chosen for him, then, at middle age, discovers that he cannot recapture the romance of his youth.

Perhaps one of the greatest surprises of the production is the casting of the glamorous Hedy Lamarr as the cool, disciplined business girl, Marvin Myles. Not even the abandonment of her "glamour bob" or the addition of glasses can rob Miss Lamarr of her spectacular looks, but in this role she proves herself an actress first and a charmer last.

'Syncopation' On Dominion Screen

Music and romance comprise the dual themes of "Syncopation," now at the Dominion Theatre, RKO Radio's absorbing picture of the growth of modern dance rhythms. Adolphe Menjou, Jackie Cooper, Bonita Granville and George Bancroft head the cast of the film, which begins in New Orleans in 1907 and carries its story up to the present day against a vivid background of the World War and prohibition years.

Produced and directed by William Dieterle, the offering features a wealth of tunes ranging from old-time favorites to modern swing and a spectacular "jam session" by the All-American Dance Band.

Capital's New Defences Tested

Birmingham Bombed, London Has Alarm

LONDON (CP)—Birmingham, big British industrial centre in the Midlands, was bombed Monday night in an attack which cost the Germans eight out of 50 to 70 raiders, and incendiaries fell in the Greater London district, which had its first night alarm since June 3.

A ninth German bomber was reported shot down this morning off the southwest coast.

The appearance of bombers over the London area provided a test for the capital's new anti-aircraft defences.

Londoners used to the sound of the anti-aircraft barrage during the heavy night attacks of 1940-41 detected the distinctive sound of the new weapons.

(The dispatch did not identify the new defence weapon further, but it seemed obvious that it was a new type anti-aircraft gun.)

HOMES HIT

"Enemy action last night was on a somewhat larger scale than for some time past," a communiqué said. "Fires and damage were caused in the Birmingham area, where there also were a number of casualties."

Scattered bombing caused some damage elsewhere through the Midlands and eastern counties.

The greatest damage in Birmingham was sustained by homes and shops, and a large hospital was emptied when a delayed action bomb landed nearby.

In an adjacent locality the post office was demolished and residential areas hit. Rescue squads worked until past dawn bringing out those trapped in the debris.

A number of fire bombs fell in fields near London, but no damage

The maximum length of plane propellers is about 17 feet.

Rape of Nanking Jap Indictment

The atrocities perpetrated by the Japanese against the Chinese in the occupied zone of China, filmed by W. H. Sutter in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium before large audiences Monday under the film title of "The Rape of Nanking," is a striking indictment of the ruthlessness of the Japanese war machine.

Other pictures shown were "Peaceful China," depicting the ancient civilization of China; "Fighting Ships," presented by the Canadian Department of Munitions and Supply, portraying the construction of a steel ship from the industrial processes of the rolling mills to the launching stage, and a news reel showing the sinking of the United States gunboat Panay by the Japanese.

Mr. Sutter, who has spent many years in China, presented the film here on the invitation of C. A. Clements, personal director of the Victoria Machinery Depot Ltd., the firm sponsoring the showing. Hundreds of shipyard workers and navy, army and air force men, as well as public officials, and citizens crowded the auditorium in the afternoon and evening.

Those who witnessed "The Rape of Nanking" were shocked by the revolting atrocities pictured. When Nanking fell before the advancing Japanese hordes the most horrible crimes were committed by the invaders, who showed no mercy to the helpless noncombatants. Chinese youngsters were lined up against a wall and mowed down, people were tied together and bayoneted; others were tortured and mutilated and burned.

In describing the incidents pictured Mr. Sutter used the most vigorous language at his command, and the pungency of his remarks brought repeated outbursts of acclaim from the audience.

China is the most symbolic country in the world where everything tells its own story. Mr. Sutter explained in presenting the graphic picturization of ancient China.

The most interesting scenes were the Great Wall of China, the innumerable palaces of the Emperors Dowager, the Forbidden City, and the white marble Temple of Heaven.

The picture showing the shipbuilding industry from the rolling of the steel plates through the various process of assembly to the finished ship was closely followed by the shipyard workers. "Remember, a ship is only as good as its builders make it," was the advice given over the sound system.

Mr. Clements, addressing the men, explained that a ship was launched in Canada every third day and that 95 per cent of the money going into them was spent right in Canada.

"The Rape of Nanking" and "Fighting Ships" will be shown to workmen of Yarrow's Limited this evening at 8; in Victoria High School auditorium. Only men are invited.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, christened the aircraft Athlone in a colorful ceremony on the Tarmac at the east door of the plant, drawing the ship's name in white letters on the nose.

Miss Pearl MacKenzie, superintendent of women at the assembly plant, drew aside the Stars and Stripes, and dedicated the aircraft on behalf of Boeing's employees.

Ralph P. Bell, Ottawa, director-general of aircraft production, said the issue was "build planes fast or pull rickshaws for the Japs."

Now, in wartime, we have an important job to do, keeping vital war traffic on the move and providing essential civilian transportation all over the island, with a minimum use of tires and gasoline.

To accomplish our task of serving the island efficiently under these conditions, we have had to eliminate "second sections" on some trips, and you may be inconvenienced, crowded or delayed on some week-end. We request your co-operation—if you can, travel during the mid-week.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—As the ticker tape watchers figured it out, the general stability of today's stock market indicated a lot of discounting or that the list had become pretty well immunized to bad war news.

Bearish implications of the fall of Rostov to the Nazis failed to bring out any important liquidation.

Transfers were around 250,000 shares.

A wide assortment of industrial corporation reports stressing declined profits in the first half seemingly had been taken into account by financial contingents.

Inflation and anti-inflation arguments still were about even-up as a trend influence.

Among Canadian stocks Hiram Walker lost 1/4. In bonds Canada 4s were up 1/2.

MONTREAL (CP)—Scattered leaders figured in small changes up to the final hours of trading today on the stock exchange but a majority of issues boarded were unchanged. Volume was on the slim side.

Down a few cents each were East Malarctic, Sullivan and Alder. Siscoe posted a gain.

In Industrials British American Oil and B.C. Packers gained ground and Massey preferred was lower.

GULF ISLANDS FERRY CO. LTD.

For 15 years "COACH LINES" have linked the communities of Vancouver Island with a complete and efficient bus transportation system, catering to all travel requirements.

Now, in wartime, we have an important job to do, keeping vital war traffic on the move and providing essential civilian transportation all over the island, with a minimum use of tires and gasoline.

To accomplish our task of serving the island efficiently under these conditions, we have had to eliminate "second sections" on some trips, and you may be inconvenienced, crowded or delayed on some week-end. We request your co-operation—if you can, travel during the mid-week.

Disclosing he had requested state public service commissions to survey local rail and bus passenger service with the view of releasing engines and cars for more important service, Eastman

Vancouver Launches First PBV Catalina

VANCOUVER (CP)—The first PBV Catalina flying boat built by Boeing Aircraft of Canada at its Sea Island plant rolled down the ramp into the Fraser River Monday amid the cheers of 7,000 workmen and citizens gathered to witness the launching.

Mrs. W. C. Woodward, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, christened the aircraft Athlone in a colorful ceremony on the Tarmac at the east door of the plant, drawing the ship's name in white letters on the nose.

Miss Pearl MacKenzie, superintendent of women at the assembly plant, drew aside the Stars and Stripes, and dedicated the aircraft on behalf of Boeing's employees.

Ralph P. Bell, Ottawa, director-general of aircraft production, said the issue was "build planes fast or pull rickshaws for the Japs."

C.N.R. Steamers Omit Stewart

Vessels of the Canadian National Steamships recently discontinued calls at Stewart, in northern B.C., after serving that port for many years. The following report from Stewart, a fine tribute to these ships and their men, was carried in a recent issue of the Prince Rupert News:

"With whistle and siren, Capt. Edward Mabbs of the Canadian National steamship Prince George paid the Canadian National's final salute to Stewart as he pulled away from the Stewart dock. Not a person who stood on the wharf that afternoon but felt a double pang of regret as the Prince George steamed down the canal and away. The loss to the district of the service supplied by the Canadian National regularly since 1920, is a very real loss, but more personal and, therefore, much more poignant, is the breaking of the contact between local residents and the popular officers and crew members of the Canadian National vessels.

"It is safe to say that for many years to come the names of Capt. Dan Donald, Capt. Harry Neddin, Capt. Neil MacLean, Capt. Edward Mabbs, Capt. Dan McKinnon, Alex Munro, W. E. Baillie, Bert Robson, Jack Crawford, Norman MacLean, Jack Haffey, Johnny Walker and many, many others will frequently be mentioned in Stewart homes and in the homes elsewhere of former Stewart residents.

"These men, and the good ships Prince Rupert and Prince George, had become part of the life of this community. The 'big boats' were regarded as much as an institution as a service. All that remains now of this friendly contact is the hope—very genuinely held here—that after the war, with the return of peace-time activities, these ships and their popular personnel will again be regular callers at Stewart."

Although the Stewart call has been discontinued, Canadian National vessels still serve other northern ports on twice-weekly schedules.

Fireman Killed in Freight Wreck

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Traffic was resumed today on the Canadian Pacific Railway's main line as arrangements were completed for an inquest later today into the death of F. W. McCalig, Kamloops fireman, killed Monday when two freight trains collided head-on at Tranquille, 12 miles west of here.

Other members of the two train crews, all of whom jumped, escaped with only a bad shaking up.
